It is a month of very special birthdays!
We wish Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth a very happy 90th Birthday this month and we look forward to the official celebrations in May & June.

Happy Birthday Charlotte Bronte, sharing the Queen's Birthday, April 21st; We salute this literary trailblazer and indefatigable spirit. The Bronte Parsonage celebrates the bicentennial of Charlotte's birth with a party at the Old School Rooms in Haworth. There will be cake, (and lots more) see details on page 21. You are invited and we hope to see you there!

Save the dates: May 13-15 for vintage delights as the Haworth 1940s weekend takes shape under the banner of Airborne this year (page 17). The event benefits SSAFA, the military charity that supports veterans and their families. You can learn more about SSAFA and opportunities for getting involved in this worthy cause on page 16,

With longer days and increased sunshine (or so we hope) we have included a pleasant walk on the canal towpath and around Riddlesden golf course.
We wish a warm welcome to Keighley BID (Business Improvement District) Manager, Paul Howard, who tells us what we can expect to see happen in Keighley now that he has arrived in post (pages 28/29).
Spring is the time of year to clear out and clean up. We've found an extreme example of space clearing (page 26) but there are plenty of businesses within these pages that will help you tackle your conventional spring cleaning challenges with far more ease.

Have a great April!

Keighley & Worth Valley Railway: A day in the life...

It's difficult to describe a typical 'day in the life of...' as chairman of a heritage railway.

For me, it's a constant juggling act between my day job, which now takes me to London a day or two per week; home life, with the long-suffering Mrs S, a couple of children and three little dogs to enjoy spending time with; as well as the Railway. Most days there's some Railway-related email traffic to deal with, and an increasing number of conference calls with other volunteers as we work around domestic and professional commitments. In the last few weeks, we have been discussing funding opportunities, next year's budget, and how we can continue to attract new volunteers to help us keep the wheels turning for many years to come in preparation for the next Board meeting.

Matt Stroh, chairman of the Keighley & Worth Valley Railway, Bradford Lord Mayor Joanne Dodd, Rita Verity & Chris Upton representing Fairtrade Haworth & Keighley.

As well as the longer-term, we also are keen to be 'good neighbours' and so support a number of local initiatives. I recently spoke to a group of Oxenhope villagers about the history of the line and the Railway's impact on the village since it open in 1867. I was able to share stories of working with the village over the years, including the time when we became the only route in and out of a snow-bound Oxenhope and in recent times the support we have given to the organisers of the Straw Race who needed a location to start their fantastic village event. Similarly, we've hosted the Manorlands star light hike and worked the team on various fund-raising projects.

One of the more unusual duties I undertook recently was in support of the Haworth Fair Trade fortnight, when I had the honour of meeting the Lord Mayor of Bradford. I managed to get photographed whilst wearing the Fair Trade apron she presented to me whilst I was still clutching the bouquet of Fair Trade flowers I was presenting to her. It was great to be able to support the fortnight and to celebrate Haworth having been named the first Fair Trade village over a decade ago. After these ceremonial duties, and helping to serve a Fair Trade breakfast to passengers, I went to speak to a meeting of our Young Person's Group. This Group is for our younger volunteers, aged 13 to 15, and is a means for them to experience what life as a volunteer is like, getting an into the workings of the various departments and operations that we need to run the Railway. They were meeting for a day-long session on safety and rules, as well as talks from various senior members of the Railway, underlining the importance of the discipline needed to join the volunteering team and the significance of the Group to our long-term future.

And when I'm not doing all that, I write articles for local publications to make sure our neighbours know what's going on and to give them an insight into what goes on behind the scenes to keep those increasingly vintage wheels turning...

A site for sore eyes...

Clarus Opticians is an independent practice owned and managed by Sajid Bashir, an Optometrist with over 15 years of experience in the optical industry. Born and bred in Keighley, Mr Bashir is keen to maintain his close connection to the town and its local residents by bringing high quality eye care to their doorsteps. "Many patients come to our practice complaining of dry or wet eyes, burning or itchy sensations in the eyes or occasional blurry vision, often associated with computer use or reading. At most busy practices, there are restrictions on the time available during the sight tests to conduct thorough examinations of these issues, often leaving patients without satisfactory resolutions," explains Mr Bashir.

Clarus Opticians proudly offers sight test appointments lasting up to an hour, where necessary, to take a detailed look into the causes of all eye complaints including a free initial eyelid assessment. With daily appointments available from 9.00am to 5.30pm and flexible, extended opening hours until 8.30pm on Wednesdays and Thursdays, they can offer the most convenient time to fit in with even the busiest of schedules.

Mr Bashir states, "My vision for Clarus Opticians is to provide services second to none in the area." Since the beginning of March 2016, we are pleased to introduce our Dry and Wet Eye Clinic focusing solely on getting to the root of the cause and helping patients to manage these uncomfortable conditions. Following extensive training at Moorfields Eye Hospital, we are now able to offer the latest treatment options available for dry and wet eyes, including punctum plugs and lacrimal syringing. "On attending the clinic, we will conduct a detailed assessment into the cause of your symptoms followed by a deep clean of your eye lids and put a management plan into place which caters for your individual needs and lifestyles. Examples of management plans can include: eye lid heat treatment, massage, ointments, antibiotics, supplements and an in-house review on the progress of the same."

Gardening

WITH STEVE THORPE

April is here, warm in the sun but cool in the shade with lots to look forward to in the months ahead. With the lighter nights all those extra jobs can be done in the garden in readiness for the season ahead.

Make sure your greenhouse is washed down thoroughly to get rid of any pests and diseases and to clean the windows to let in maximum light to aid growing.

Sow tomatoes, marrows, squashes, pumpkins & courgettes in the greenhouse. Sowing cabbage, cauliflowers, Brussels sprouts & runner beans in the greenhouse can really speed up their development so you have sturdy grown on plants ready to plant out once the risk of frost has gone. Just remember to keep your eye on the seedlings once they germinate as they will need thinning out to give each individual plant its own growing space.

Start sowing carrots, beetroot, peas, turnips, lettuce etc direct into your beds outside. The soil can still be cold and wet so the use of cloches will protect the delicate seedlings from frost and rain and speed up the development of your crops. If you haven't planted those chitted early seed potatoes get them in now or start thinking about planting some second earlies or chitting some main crops ready to plant out next month.

Don't forget to watch out for slugs and snails that will be waiting to pounce on those new juicy seedlings.

You will need to step up the watering of any indoor plants and remember to check that shrubs and plants in outdoor containers are not left to dry out. Remember the smaller growing space the plant has to grow in the more it will need feeding and watering.

Divide hostas before they come into leaf and divide primulas after flowering. Dead head winter flowering pansies before they go to seed to encourage new flowers throughout the spring.

Move any evergreen shrubs and trees that are in the wrong place before the warm weather arrives. Finish planting those herbaceous perennials to fill up any gaps and complete that stunning border of colour.

A walk from the towpath

3 1/2 miles (5.6km) circular walk near Riddlesden

Walk information

Starting and finishing along the Leeds and Liverpool Canal the walk soon leaves the valley bottom as it starts a steep climb up the northern side of the Aire Valley via Riddlesden Golf Course (watch out for flying golf balls!). Near to Jay Tail Farm at the highest point of the route, pause a while to enjoy the long distance views up and down the Aire Valley before starting your return journey, level at first then a gentle decent for an easy finish.

Although an ideal family walk, the gates, stiles and rough terrain make this walk not suitable for pushchairs, wheelchairs and people with limited mobility.

The walk start point

Leeds and Liverpool Canal swing bridge (197) at the top of Bar Lane Riddlesden, near Keighley. Accessed from the B6265 old Keighley / Bradford Road.

The Walk Route

From canal bridge (197) at the top of Bar

Lane, turn left to walk along the towpath in the direction of Skipton for approximately 1 1/2 miles (2.4km) until you reach canal bridge (195) (Booths Bridge) passing Leaches Bridge (196) along the way. On reaching Booths Bridge (195), turn right to cross the canal bridge bearing right on the opposite side to walk uphill following the rough track eventually emerging at the top opposite the 18th green of Riddlesden Golf Club. Here turn left to walk steadily uphill passing in front of the clubhouse following the track as it meanders beneath the trees. After a short distance, the first tee is on your left and the fairway opens up in front of you, turn left here off the right of way to cross the fairway in front of the first tee towards the dry stone wall. On reaching the wall turn right to walk uphill to follow the permissive path along the edge of the fairway keeping close to the wall on your left. At the top of the fairway the path turns right still following the wall on your left along the top side of the green on your right. Just beyond the green the path turns sharp left and rejoins the right of way still following the stone wall on your left and crossing a second tee as you make your way uphill under the trees to a field gate and stile. Over the stile the path continues straight ahead still with the stone wall on your left as you make your way uphill heading towards the electricity pylon which can be seen ahead. On nearing the pylon look out for the stile in the wall on the left, situated next to a walled up gateway. Do not go over the stile but turn sharp right to walk steadily uphill across the field walking parallel to the tumbled down stone wall on your left to a field gate which is initially hidden from view by a tree. On reaching the gate go Along the Leeds and Liverpool Canal, Riddlesden through to cross a second field heading towards the farm buildings of Jaytail Farm which can be seen ahead. On reaching a second field gate at the bottom of the track which leads up to Jaytail Farm do not go through the gate but turn right and continue across the field walking parallel to the stone wall on your left to the ladder stile over the wall ahead. Climb over the stile back onto Riddlesden Golf Course. The path, which is often overgrown with bracken is straight ahead keeping as near as the vegetation will allow to the wall on your left. Continue along the top of the golf course eventually exiting at the far end via a stile through a boundary wall hidden beneath the trees. Over the stile and across a small stream the path continues straight ahead uphill (take care here as this short section is often very wet). On reaching the crest of the hill, head for the field gate which can be seen a short distance away across the field. Go through the gate to join a grassy track downhill for a short distance to where it meets the surfaced access road near Wood Head Lodge the bungalow on your right From here take the surfaced road straight ahead soon passing the hamlet of High Farm

Wood Head down below on your right. Continue straight ahead for quite a distance eventually climbing a slight incline until you reach the junction with Banks Lane, a minor but busy road at the far end. Turn left up Banks Lane for approximately 150 yds/ 137m before taking the first surfaced level tree lined drive off to the right leading to Larkfield Farm and House. On reaching the buildings the drive divides, here continue straight ahead crossing the stone sets along the back of Larkfield House to find a gated stile tucked away in the top left hand corner of the wall ahead. Through the stile follow the wooden fence on your left for only a short distance to find a wide gap in the fence, here bear left through the gap then bear immediately right to follow the fence now on your right. After a short distance at the corner of the fence the footpath continues straight ahead across the field heading for the field gate which can be seen in the wall ahead. Go through the gate bearing slightly to the left between the discarded farm equipment the short distance to join a concrete farm access track. Turn right down the track keeping to the left hand side to avoid the GUARD DOG which will noisily come out to greet you from its kennel on the right as you meander between the buildings to the centre of the farm yard at Heights Farm. From here take the right hand of the two gates which face you to leave the farmyard on an often muddy field track walking straight ahead following the wall on your left eventually reaching and going through another field gate. Through the gate continue to follow the track (which has now become less visible) and the wall on the left which changes to a wooden fence as you start to bear right around the edge of the field heading for the buildings of Rivock Farm (disused) which can be seen ahead. On reaching the farm do not enter the farm yard but turn right down the obvious farm track walking with the rear of the farm building on your left. At the end of the building where the track enters the top end of a field the footpath is straight ahead steeply downhill following the line of mature trees and a stream on your right, eventually passing an old stone gate stoop on your left as you continue down a second field to a field gate.

World Champion Lizzie Armitstead to ride the Asda Women's Tour de Yorkshire Race

Yorkshire's own World Champion Lizzie Armitstead is the first rider to announce she will compete in the Asda Women's Tour de Yorkshire on Saturday 30 April.

The race has secured title sponsorship with Asda supermarkets and will take place on exactly the same course as the men's race being held later that day, on a 135km route from Otley to Doncaster.

Race organisers Welcome to Yorkshire and A.S.O have also announced that the prize fund makes it the most lucrative women's cycle race in the world, with a total of £50,000 on offer to individuals and teams.

The first prize for this one day race will be £15,000, second will be £10,000 and third, £5,000, with prize money down to 20th place.

Otley born Armitstead, who currently tops the women's world rankings after a series of impressive wins in the season so far, said: "The Asda Tour de Yorkshire Women's race will be my first race in the UK in my World Champions jersey and it's an absolute dream to be starting in my home town."

Speaking of the sponsorship and reasons to support women's racing, Andy Clarke, Asda President and CEO said: "It's a privilege to be supporting the Tour de Yorkshire women's race and helping to raise the profile of women's sports. In 2014 Asda was the official partner of the Tour Makers for the Yorkshire Grand Départ, which was a resounding success. We're incredibly proud of our Yorkshire roots and wanted to remain part of this exciting legacy that works to bring communities together in celebration of an amazing sport set against the backdrop of an unbeatable county."

The Asda Women's Tour de Yorkshire will be broadcast live, on ITV4 and Eurosport.

As the women's race is ranked 1.2 by the world governing body, UCI, it has been able to attract some of the world's best riders as well as domestic teams. Armitstead will race with the Great Britain Cycling Team.

Race timings were announced last week and can be found here:

COUNTRY COOKING

by Cath Bromwich

AUNT JANET AND DI'S TABLET RECIPE

I want to give thanks for my Aunt Janet, whom I was with as she died this last week. In fact, I was holding her hand at her bedside. She was my main supporter when I decided to take up cooking as a way of earning a living. Janet was a great cook, and loved poetry her whole life. Janet was a great cook, and loved poetry her whole life. These two things were related in a very special way for her. Once I found her stirring a big pot of bubbling liquid, muttering to herself, and I asked her what she was doing. She told me that she was making Tablet (a sort of Scottish toffee), and that the way to know if it was cooked was to recite 'Lycidas', a poem by John Milton. When the poem was complete, the Tablet would be ready!

Janet's Scottish nanny, Di, originally gave her the recipe when she was a child, before the Second World War, and my aunt used to make it throughout her life.

Well, for her ninetieth birthday present, I rooted out the recipe, and got the mixture bubbling. Unlike Janet, I can't recite 'Lycidas' from memory, but I found a recording on Youtube (it turns out that it's a rather fine poem). So, in the last few weeks of her life, my aunt could nibble at a little bit of Tablet, and enjoy the story of its poetic origins.

Anyway, here is that recipe for you to enjoy. If you like, you can find a link to the poem at www.bartleby.com/101/317.html, and try reading it out slowly – but there are other ways of knowing when the Tablet is done! If the mixture does not set hard quickly, then turn it back into the pot.

Ingredients:

- 2lb (900g) sugar
- 4oz (100g) butter
- 1 large tin (400g) of condensed milk
- 1 ½ tsp vanilla essence
- 1 cup water

Instructions:

Butter and line a baking tin of approximately 20cm by 26cm, or a little larger.

Melt the butter and sugar, stirring continually, then add the milk and water

Bring the mixture to a rolling boil for around 25 minutes.

It changes sharply in consistency when it is ready. Look at the sides of the saucepan for the beginnings of crystallization.

If you keep back a little butter and add it almost at the end, it gives a gloss.

Yorkshire, your local Armed Forces community needs you!

ssafa the Armed Forces charity

Lifelong support for our Forces and their families

SSAFA, the Armed Forces charity, has seen a significant increase in need for support from the Yorkshire Armed Forces community. This spring, in a bid to meet the increase in need, SSAFA is launching a search across the length and breadth of Yorkshire to find new recruits to join its ranks of dedicated volunteers. The military charity, whose network of volunteers support serving personnel, reservists, veterans and their families, has seen the number of home visits alone rising by 93% between 2014 and 2015 in North Yorkshire.

SSAFA is the oldest national military charity in the UK, supporting 55,000 people in the Armed Forces community each year. SSAFA has four branches in Yorkshire – North, South, East and West with new volunteers urgently needed in Scarborough & Locale, Bridlington, Rotherham and Sheffield. The charity expects the increase in requests for help to continue to grow due to the ageing population of the UK and an increase in younger veterans from more recent conflicts, and their families, coming

SSAFA volunteer case workers support members of the Armed Forces community in a range of ways, including:

- visiting them in their homes, assessing their needs
- assisting with house adaptations for a service man or woman injured whilst fighting for their country
- raising the rent for a young veteran unemployed and struggling to transition from military life to civilian life
- befriending a lonely, elderly veteran and providing them with some much-needed company
- support with issues such as homelessness, marriage breakdown, debt and mental health problems.

forward for help. In 2005, 25% of the beneficiaries SSAFA supported locally across the UK were under 60 years of age, ten years later; this figure has risen to over 40%.

THE YOUNG WRITERS' CLUB

What is citizenship?

Have you ever wondered what it means to be a good Citizen? At the Young Writers Club we have been thinking about what it means to be a good Citizen and what a good Citizen does. Citizenship begins at home and then school with cleaning your bedroom and helping to keep your classroom tidy. Being a good Citizen is about taking responsibility, volunteering to help, making the best of it and being friendly of course. Another way to contribute as a citizen is to become a School Councillor or School Eco-councillor and help improve the environment and your school.

Over the next few issues, we are hoping to bring you interviews with local citizens, councillors and our Member of Parliament to find out what their role is in helping our villages, towns and country become a better place to live.

Active citizenship

We have written a letter to David Cameron, the Prime Minister, and Boris Johnson, Mayor of London, to ask them about the benefits of staying in or leaving the EU. We asked them what the benefits would be for children... We hope to publish their replies!

BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE MUSEUM

2016 is the bicentenary of Charlotte Brontë's birth and an exciting year for the Brontë Parsonage Museum and Haworth. In our continuing series of articles celebrating Charlotte, we meet Collections Manager Ann Dinsdale.

Tell us a little about yourself:

I was born just over the border in Lancashire but grew up in Keighley, and have spent the last twenty years living in Haworth. I first visited the village on a school trip in the 1960s and have been enthralled by the history and the wild landscape of the area ever since.

How long have you worked at the Museum?

I came to work at the Parsonage early in 1989 as a part-time museum assistant. By the following year I was working full-time in the Museum's research library and twenty-seven years later I'm still here.

Tell us about a typical day:

I'm not sure there is a typical day at the Parsonage. A lot of my time is spent in the research library, which also serves as a curatorial office, working with my colleagues Sarah Laycock and Amy Rowbottom. We look after the researchers who come to the library and also spend time dealing with the many enquiries we receive each week. This year has been particularly busy and as well as arranging the displays at the Parsonage, we have also been dealing with loan requests from other museums who are planning Brontë exhibitions of their own to celebrate Charlotte's bicentenary. We've been assisting a BBC production team working on Sally Wainwright's new Brontë drama, To Walk Invisible. We never know when we'll receive a call alerting us to the sale of an important Brontë item and then fundraising and working on grant applications takes precedence.

What is your favourite item linked to Charlotte in the Parsonage collection?

It would probably be Charlotte's portable writing desk. It comes complete with its original contents - a fascinating assortment of pen nibs, wax seals and odds and ends which Charlotte had squirreled away inside it. I remember seeing it for the first time when I visited the Parsonage as a child and longing to own one like it.

And your favourite Charlotte quote?

I think some of Charlotte's finest writing is found in her letters, particularly those written after the publication of Jane Eyre, when a new circle of literary correspondents opened up to Charlotte. The letters written after the deaths of her sisters are heart-breaking and stay in my mind.

Anything else you'd like to tell us?

We're looking forward to celebrating Charlotte's birthday on 21 April. There will be activities throughout the day at the Museum and a party at the Old School Room. We hope lots of local residents will come along and join us.

Less Stress with Yoga

If you feel stressed, fatigued or you are dealing with a difficult situation Yoga can help you to understand how to work with your own body, breath and mind to feel more energised, calmer and to improve your sense of well-being. The combined benefits of gentle movement, relaxation, breath awareness and meditation techniques help give a sense of control in difficult situations.

Yoga can provide different ways of seeing yourself and your place in the general scheme of things. Seeing things from new perspectives can rejuvenate the way you relate to yourself, to others and to situations that formerly have seemed insurmountable.

Many people who experience long periods of stress notice the impact on their physical health. Research suggests that Yoga techniques can help you de-stress your life are shown below.

High Blood Pressure and Heart Disease

Yoga is recognised as providing muscle strength which is instrumental in regulating blood sugar and blood pressure, both integral to maintaining a healthy heart.

Insomnia

Relaxation training aims to reduce tension or minimise intrusive thoughts that may be interfering with sleep.

Anxiety and Depression

Yoga can be an activity you enjoy with other people. Both exercise and group activities have recognised benefits for improving mood states. Breathing, relaxation and meditation techniques can also help.

Digestion and IBS

The combined techniques of Yoga have been shown to help cope with the underlying impact of intense emotional states such as stress and anxiety which can trigger chemical changes that interfere with the normal workings of the digestive system.

Asthma

Sometimes asthma is associated with stress. Certain types of yoga breathing exercises are recognised as helping some people with asthma.

Aches and Pains

Gentle exercises, like Yoga, along with controlled breathing are used in programmes to help people deal with pain and the stress caused by pain. Practising relaxation techniques regularly can also help to reduce persistent pain and headaches.

Postnatal

The combined methods of relaxation, breath awareness, relaxation and meditation can help support coping with postnatal sleeplessness, anxiety and mood state. Gentle movement helps to get the body back in shape.

Clear Out and Clean Up for Spring

speedy is that instead of decluttering room by room, she tackles belongings by subject, starting with what is easiest to part with. So, all the clothes, then all the books, then documents, then miscellany and, last and most difficult, photos and mementos. "The inside of a house or flat after decluttering has much in common with a Shinto shrine ... a place where there are no unnecessary things, and our thoughts become clear," she says.

"It is the place where we appreciate all the things that support us. It is where we review and rethink about ourselves." The Kondo method may be a little extreme for some readers. Hiring a personal space clearer isn't for everyone, in fact probably only a few will take up this kind of approach.

But the benefits of having a good spring clean is within most people's reach. Buying in certain services can take the hassle out of it too.

Help is only a phone call away! Get your oven cleaned by a professional. Commit to a regular cleaning service. Apart from having to tidy up a bit on the day that the cleaner arrives, you will soon get into the habit and appreciate having more time to enjoy your life with less dust and clutter.

While you're on a roll, why not tackle the other areas that may benefit from a spring treatment? Call the carpet cleaners; have your car valeted, and ring the gardeners and book a seasonal tidy.

Whether you fancy rolling your socks sushi style like Marie Kondo is not the point. The main thing is to take some action and feel the benefits of putting things in some semblance of order.

The Life-Changing Magic of Tidying Up: The Japanese Art of Decluttering and Organising, by Marie Kondo, is an international bestseller. The book is more about a philosophy of owning things. (In fact, it's the #1 bestseller on Amazon in the Zen Philosophy book category.)

Kondo sees tidying as a cheerful conversation in which anything that doesn't "spark joy" is to be touched, thanked and ceremonially sent on its way towards a better life elsewhere, where it can discover a more appreciative owner.

The results can be life changing, she says. Clients suddenly find themselves surrounded entirely by things that provide clarity, unencumbered by belongings that carry baggage (unwanted gifts, clothes that no longer fit) or anxieties about the future. Even her book, she says, should be quickly discarded when it's no longer needed.

Part of what makes her method unusually

A Warm Welcome to Keighley for BID manager

Despite the arrival of snow and ice when Keighley's newly appointed BID Manager, Paul Howard, began his tenure in March, there was a warm welcome at the Airedale offices. Aire Valley Magazine editor Liz Barker was keen to say hello and see how Paul was settling in. Having been a member of the marketing team that successfully delivered the Business Improvement District (BID) proposals, Liz understood the significance of Paul's appointment and wanted to learn more about the man who would be working with the BID team to move the project forward.

Tell us a little about yourself Paul.

I'm married with 2 children, both boys. One just coming up to his GCSE's so a nerve wracking time! I've worked in Place Management and Project Management since 2002 and have moved around the country with my job starting in the North West then moving to the West Midlands then on to the South West before finally coming back to the North West. There's no place like home.

What will your role be in implementing the Keighley Business Improvement District plan?

My role will essentially be about putting into action the plan that was decided by the business community. In this type of work, it's vital that the private and public sectors are effectively co-operating so I have a great board made up of local business people and the council. It will be the board that ultimately give me direction and approve any plans and my job is to make them happen.

What are your first impressions of Keighley?

First impressions are absolutely crucial when we are trying to attract new visitors to the town centre and I would have to say that overall, I have a very positive impression of Keighley. The town centre is clean and compact and it has all the shops and businesses I would need on a day to day basis. Of course, there are always things to improve and I have to say that signage is one of the things we need to look at in Keighley as well as traffic movement.

What can the Keighley residents and businesses expect as actions and outputs in the first 100 days of your new post?

The first 100 days will be about putting in place the foundations of the Keighley BID and how we intend to deliver the business plan. Getting the branding right for me is vital as it says a lot about us as a town centre and as a business and is something that will be in use for the full 5 year term. Of course, we are also putting in place plans for some exciting new events in Keighley and supporting some existing events to attract existing and new visitors into the town centre.

As an experienced Place Manager what are the biggest challenges you expect to face?

20 years ago the Internet barely existed. If you did use it, you were tethered to a big and bulky PC and had to wait an age to download anything. Of course now, people can access the web pretty much wherever they are. People can do their shopping on the train or bus on the way home and have it delivered to their hand the next day. My biggest challenge, and one of the biggest challenges for most high streets up and down the country is about managing a structured change to a digital world and giving people great reasons to carry on using their town centres. This is by making sure they are clean, green and accessible and there is a reason to visit.

What can local people do to support the BID?

Feedback from visitors is always very useful when we are planning our work for the year. Our new website will have a function to leave feedback on their town centre experience and we will be offering some great incentives for people to get involved. I would have to say then that just something simple like offering feedback on what they feel we are getting right and where we need to re-think would be a great support.

How can businesses outside the BID area get involved?

Businesses outside of the BID area can pay a membership fee into the BID and benefit from a range of services and marketing opportunities that we can offer. A healthy town centre is a huge benefit to a business in terms of attracting and retaining the right members of staff so I would say to any business outside of the BID area to contact me to discuss.
