British Parking Awards 2016

It's no surprise the theme of this month is shopping. Between discovering the Magic of Haworth Main Street, the Keighley Town Centre Pledge, and the Airedale Shopping Centre late night openings, there is plenty of time and incentive to shop until you drop! But instead we are recommending you fully embrace the season, enjoy the experience, stop for coffee and cake, meet an old friend for a chat; take in a carol concert or pantomime. Make the most of the festivities and allow yourself to feel the joy!

The Steeton Village Hub Knitting Group has created a very impressive display in Saint Stephens church which is well worth a visit! (p26).

There is much excitement and anticipation around the impending broadcast of the BBC Bronte themed drama 'To Walk Invisible' by Sally Wainwright. What a great occasion to gather and watch together. Set your TV to record Thursday December 29th, 9pm BBC1. Local photographer, John Sargent, was privileged to take many behind the scenes photos on the sets in and around Haworth. You can view his images online or via his various social media channels (p22).

From the whole team at Worth Valley Publishing, we wish you a wonderful festive season. Be well and enjoy a happy and healthy 2017. We look forward to seeing you in the New Year!

Christmastide Baked Apples

by Cath Bromwich

I love baked apples. And I love the spicy tastes of Christmas. This recipe is very similar to food people have celebrated with in Britain for a very long time! Good served with yoghurt, custard or ice-cream, for that cold/hot sensation.

Ingredients (per person):

- 1 Cooking apple
- 2-4 teaspoonfuls of honey
- 1 Tablespoon sultanas and /or chopped dates
- 1 Tablespoon of chopped nuts like walnuts or almonds
- A couple of pinches of cinnamon,
- 1 little pinch nutmeg
- A few drops of vanilla flavouring

Instructions:

Heat your oven to gas mark 4 or 180oC
Grease a baking tin lightly with oil
However many apples you want to cook, try and choose similar sized ones, so that they will be cooked around the same time
Carefully cut out the core of the apples, while leaving a bit of apple at the bottom so that you make a sort of deep bowl. Try and keep this in tact so that the honey does not run out. Fill in the bottom if you cut away too much. If necessary cut the base of your apple flat.
Score all the way round the outside of the apple (its circumference) with a sharp knife. Just cut the skin, not deep into the flesh. This will help with cooking.
Mix nuts, sultanas, honey, cinnamon, nutmeg and vanilla together in a bowl and then spoon this into the apple holes (avoid honey spilling over to prevent burning)
Fill all your apples you want to cook, place on the baking tray. Place the tray of apples in the oven

Cooking time depends on apple size, however a 250g apple takes 35 minutes, When cooked they should be soft and fluffy, and the top 'risen' from where you scored the skin.
Gently insert a fork to check softness (they may burn a little before they are all cooked through).
Note these are VERY hot when cooked. Leave to slightly cool if ouy are serving them to children.
Alternatives: Add some grated orange zest or mincemeat and chopped nuts mixed together

Following on from our article last month, we take to the cobbled pavement again; this, our second visit, is in search of more magic on Haworth's Main Street.

We begin at the top of the Street at Mrs. Beightons where over 500 varieties of sweets including hundreds in traditional jars, await our selection. The range is mind blowing...50 varieties of liquorice, 10 fruity flavours of Bon bons; it brings us right back to childhood. With a bag of midget gems in hand we are suitably fortified and ready to head out on our retail excursion.

Straight away H&L Fashions catches our eye with a male mannequin displayed in front of the shop dressed in a dapper tweed patterned suit. The shop offers a 'Not on the High Street' experience with both men and ladies clothing in an extensive range of sizes. Bargain hunters will love to rummage through the bins of hats & scarves, as well as other accessories in the shop like snoods, gloves & costume jewellery. There is a Fabulous Christmas Stocking Filler offer, choose 5 items for £20.

Two doors away, Firths Boutique mixes designer chic and quirky footwear as well as a new gentlemen's clothing department. Joe Brown, Irregular Choice, Ruby Shoo, and Poetic Licence highlight the unique footwear; and Oxford Blue, a new luxury outdoor range, features quality waxed coats with hats to match. If you were thinking about buying a Barbour jacket this season, the Oxford Blue selection is a great alternative.

Around the corner and past the post office is The Cabinet of Curiosities, a sparkly addition to Haworth. Formerly known as The Apothecary and home to Rose & Co., the new shop, as the name suggests, has an intriguing array of gifts and curiosities, as well as the familiar potions, lotions, and hand-poured candles. Many of the curiosities are displayed in glass domed cases making quite unique statements. Faux insects, butterflies, skulls, shells, and all manner of unusual objects are displayed and for sale. A delightful pop up Christmas shop at the rear sells beautiful ornaments, preserves, cakes, and sweets.

If vintage is your thing, our next destination is not to be missed. The Souk is a truly one off opportunity to step back in time and get lost in a search for clothing, accessories, costume jewellery and selected bric a brac from the 20th century. It is a treasure trove like Aladdin's cave; the hat pins and brooches alone will keep you occupied for hours. If you have something specific in mind be sure to ask Diane the proprietor for help; she will make the most of your shopping quest for vintage treasures.

Wave of Nostalgia is located across from The Souk. It is really a shop of two parts. Initially it is a fun and cheeky gift shop, with things like Alice in Wonderland themed gifts, Audrey Hepburn 'Breakfast at Tiffany's' type cushions, stationery, and a small rack of interesting vintage styled clothing. Look a bit closer and you discover a made to measure service; garments created from unusual fabrics. Classic 40's 50's & 60's style patterns are updated with cheerful and modern twists according to a customer's desire. (We'd choose the Audrey dress in the power women fabric) retail therapy. Mostly British made & ethically sourced clothing, gifts, cards, jewellery, and homeware fill the shelves as well as surprises like chalk paint for your very own DIY home projects.

Brands include Avoca, Seasalt, and many independent artists and craftsmen. The Bronte themed flat caps by Yorkshire designer Rhian Kempadoo-Millar make a fabulous gift; and paper-cut-out lampshades by Hebden Bridge artist, Hannah Nunn, are also very popular. Solmate socks and Sew Heart slippers will make for smiles all around on Christmas morning.

Last stop and by no means least, one of our favourite spots on the Main Street is Hawksby's Gallery of Delights. It says it all in the name. This carefully curated shop with its whimsical spirit is certainly a delightful place to both browse and buy works of art in ceramic, print, sculpture, jewellery, and the odd antique. It also has the most beautiful range of private press and artsy cards in Haworth. We like the fact that Hawksby's is both unpretentious and affordable. There are some pricey pieces, but the investment and pleasure value outway the strain on your wallet. You can't go wrong with Hawksby's.

A number of shops on Haworth Main Street will remain open until 8pm on Thursday the 15th (along with the Parsonage gift shop) and Saturday the 18th of December. Look out for special discounts and festive treats. Enjoy!

In a society where long distance communication takes no more than the click of the mouse or tap on a screen, loneliness is a silent killer affecting one million older people in the UK. Labelled 'The Age of Loneliness', there is nothing trivial, comical or romantic about this condition. Yet the deeply ingrained stigma surrounding the concept of loneliness prevails.

Loneliness is not the same as being alone but about not feeling connected. It is a complex and often unexplained emotional response to feelings of isolation or lack of companionship. Experiences of bereavement, divorce, relocation or starting university are some of the major life changes that can be a precursor to loneliness.

Whilst commonly accepted that loneliness is a great affliction that often affects the elderly, research concludes that loneliness affects people of all ages. In an increasingly ageing society, severe loneliness in the over 50's is currently rising at an astonishing speed. Britain is now known to be the loneliness capital of Europe.

Interestingly, married couples or those with a partner are not exempt from loneliness, giving credence to the belief that it is not the quantity but the quality of relationships that are significant. An individual surrounded by lots of people can still feel lonely – hence the expression 'lonely in a crowd'. Yet there is nothing inherently problematic about solitude itself and some may prefer to be alone and foster solitude or simply try to achieve a balanced compromise. Whilst the evolution of the internet may appear to bring people closer, social media actually promotes superficial, less rewarding relationships that can result in isolation. Face to face interactions offer greater opportunities for more sustainable relationships.

The short dark days of winter serve as a reminder that loneliness can also be a signal, a pivotal time to motivate and connect with others. An awareness and compassion for those who struggle with everyday things like shopping, offering a lift or posting a letter could make a difference.

Volunteers are always needed to make a weekly phone call to a lonely person – or perhaps you would welcome a friendly phone call through the safety and security of the Silver Line? The Silver Line operates the only confidential, free helpline for older people across the UK that's open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. There are no strict age limits so, if you think it's for you, it's for you.

Naughty but Nice Juice

This juice is basically a Bloody Mary for the 21st century. You can take it whatever way suits your temperament or mood.

Keep it clean and cosmic or go full on galactic with vodka & spice. Either way, it will put a zing in your Christmas step and a smile on your face.

It may be winter but use the best tomatoes available, and make sure they are ripe! Add horseradish for additional pucker power. The garlic and jalapeno are antimicrobial, in other words, they will blast out whatever bacteria or fungi ails you! (Just tell friends it is a medicinal thing) Have yourself a very Merry Naughty but Nice Juice. Cheers!

Haworth Wholefoods and Worth Valley Mag bring you fresh juice recipes to celebrate the launch of Haworth Wholefoods fruit & veggie boxes.

Ingredients:

- 8-10 large ripe plum tomatoes
- 1 stalk of celery (use small ribs and leaves as garnish)
- 1 large cucumber
- 1 green bell pepper
- 1 jalapeno (pull out the seeds & ribs if you like it mild or choose another chillie of choice)
- 2 carrots
- 1 clove of garlic
- 2 limes
- 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tbsp. of tomato paste
- 2 pinches of sea salt
- cracked pepper to taste

vodka (optional)
small inner celery ribs with tops

Method:

Rinse the vegetables and the limes. (No need to peel if you have a powerful juicer). Juice them up and pour into a pitcher. Add the sauce, paste, salt, and pepper and stir. Serve over ice.

Add vodka if you'd like and garnish with celery tops.

Diane Park at Wave of Nostalgia is delighted to introduce sewing classes at her workshop in Haworth beginning February 2017. Students bring their own sewing machine and receive one to one tuition within a small class environment. Beginners and more advanced students are welcome.

Sew Happy!

The latest brain wave at Haworth's quirky gift & clothing boutique is the introduction of short courses in sewing. The workshops are project based, and run for 2-4 hours each, at the end of which, each student will create either an apron, a skirt, a dress, or a blouse.

Each course includes a very snazzy project folder & carrying case, along with goodies like tailor's chalk, a 'quick unpick', needles, thread, a pattern, and various course handouts.

Brontë Parsonage
MUSEUM

John Sargent, aka jackharrybill, has lived in Haworth for nearly 30 years. Often seen around the village with the family pet, Luna, in tow, he is rarely to be seen without a camera in hand. He is never happier than when using a camera for stills or video.

Find more of his prolific work, including behind the scenes on the film set To Walk Invisible, on the web via Instagram, Twitter, Facebook and Flickr by searching for jackharrybill (Youtube may even give you a reason for that handle!).

If you need a photographer get in touch with him via

BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE MUSEUM

Everyone at the Museum would agree that one of the highlights of 2016 has been our involvement with Sally Wainwright's new Brontë drama, To Walk Invisible. Sally and her team have been regular visitors to the Parsonage and she has become an honorary member of the BPM team. Here's Sally to tell us more:

Tell us a little about yourself:

I am very boring. All I do is work. I can't be bothered with people in real life, I wish they would all leave me alone, I just want to live in cloud cuckoo land in my head.

Tell us about a typical day working on To Walk Invisible:

When we were filming out and about in Haworth, in Main Street and at the build on Penistone Hill, no one day was typical, but in the studio in Manchester our days were pretty regular: we started filming at 8am every day. I'd turn up at 7am and go through my shot list with Nathan, my 1st assistant, and then with David, the Director of Photography. At 8am the actors arrived on set. We would then rehearse the first scene we were shooting that day. I usually rehearse for about half an hour, and then we show the scene to the crew. David then sets the lights and the actors go off for further dressing and make-up, and the art department dress the set adding anything particular to the scene we're about to shoot. The 3rd assistant brings me about fifteen cups of coffee while I wait for the lights to be set, and then we shoot the scene. If that makes it sound quick and easy, it'll be four hours before we're onto the next scene.

What is your favourite item in the Museum's collection?

Emily's bedroom (also known as the Children's Study)

And your favourite piece of Brontë writing?

The Prisoner by Emily Brontë: "Now dawns the invisible, the unseen its truth reveals, my outward sense is gone, my inward essence feels, its wings are almost free, its home its harbour found, measuring the gulf it stoops and dares the final bound, oh dreadful is the check, intense the agony when the ear begins to hear and the eye begins to see, when the pulse begins the throb, the brain to think again, the soul to feel the flesh and the flesh to feel the chain. Yet I would lose no sting, would wish no torture less, the sooner anguish racks, the earlier it will bless, and robed in fires of hell, or bright with heavenly shine, if it but herald death the vision is divine."

Anything else you'd like to tell us?

To Walk Invisible is going to be on BBC1 at 9pm on Thurs 29th Dec 2016. And I'm filming the South Bank Show at the Parsonage and at Shibden Hall in Halifax this week!

Keighley & Worth Valley Railway Events 2017

Hosting the nation's favourite steam locomotive, Flying Scotsman, is something special and I'm very excited to be able to confirm that the National Railway Museum has announced the programme of events for 2017 and we are booked for a visit 1st to 9th April.

Further information will follow now that we can focus on the detail, having secured the visit. Flying Scotsman is visiting only three heritage railways in 2017, and we are the only one in the north, so are looking forward to a very busy few days of activity and passengers. As a result, booking for a journey behind Flying Scotsman will be needed and we will share details of how to book shortly. We are keeping this page updated with the very latest news as plans are finalised: www.kwvr.co.uk/flyingscotsman/

Between then and now, we continue to have a programme of events, including Santa and his Pixies on board the Santa Specials in the weekends before Christmas. The Santa Specials are virtually all sold out, but you can still enjoy the festive atmosphere on the heritage diesel service that operates alongside the Santa Specials, with the added advantage that local residents card discounts can be enjoyed on tickets for the diesel trains. We then continue the festivities after Christmas Day, with our ever-popular Mince Pie specials, running from Boxing Day right through to January 2nd and pre-booking isn't needed for the Mince Pie Specials.

Next March sees the return of the Spring Gala weekend, when from the 3rd to 5th March passengers can enjoy seeing a variety of services running, often including double-headed trains, demonstration freight operations and the chance to travel in rarely-used vintage carriages.

All of this couldn't be achieved without our team of over 500 volunteers, supported by just a handful of staff. This year our volunteers have replaced Oakworth Level Crossing, which we know our neighbours are grateful for, as well as dealing with plenty of other behind the scenes engineering and maintenance tasks. We also had to contend with the Boxing Day flooding, as did many of you I appreciate, which drew heavily on our volunteers to deal with the deluge. So I do hope that you will join me thanking them on your behalf for all their work to keep the wheels turning of our national treasure and will consider making a new year's resolution to join as a volunteer.
