Fallfest

film arts literature life

Following on from last year's Fallfest headlined by jazz singer and broadcaster Clare Teal; this year already looks set to break all records. Fallfest is Glusburn's very own 'Arts, Film and Music' Festival, and runs across the 9th - 11th September at the Glusburn Institute.

This year sees a major 'Focus on Film' with a show closing double bill on Sunday featuring an interactive workshop entitled, '007 - Has the World Had enough'. Lead by Catherine Owens (former BBC production), the session will appeal to film aficionados and media students alike. Exploring the evolution of Bond, with many critics asking where, if anywhere his future lies ... including clips and media from James Bond.

Fallfest is also extremely fortunate this year to present a re-vamp of Fritz Laings, 1927 Metropolis. This classic looks at the lives enjoyed by rulers above ground compared to the dystopia that lies beneath. Featuring a bespoke score commissioned by the British Film Institute and written and performed live by Affen and Smithson, this score creates a unique landscape to complement a classic precursor of a sci-fi/futuristic genre.

Sue Ingham, Festival Director adds:

"Our 'Focus on Film' this year is in part designed to engage the young in the artistic side of this genre. Rather than simply viewing film as entertainment per se, we are trying to encourage a more active, thought provoking dialogue between the screen and the audience member. To this end, our screening of Metropolis is an excellent, thought provoking choice"

Fallfest Patron, Simon Beaufoy in endorsing the Focus on Film adds:

"There is a great focus on film this year, including some rarities you won't see on t.v. The Metropolis gig sounds wonderful. Book now!"

The Fallfest weekend also features offerings from the theatre, with Friday night offering the hilarious Steven Berkoff play, 'Dahling you were Marvellous'. Saturday sees the repeat of the renowned Farmers Market, featuring a vast cornucopia of stalls and entertainment. With music from Sutton's Got Brass and Silsden Town Band, there will be a Great Fallfest Bake Off; craft beers and hog roast; live birds of prey display; Children's activities and stalls aplenty. The afternoon will also feature the first Fallfest 5 mile trail race across the fields and on up to the pinnacles.

On Saturday evening this year's gala event will be a Filmharmonic by Airedale Symphony Orchestra with special guest Kathleen Wilkinson from the Royal Opera House.

For more information or to volunteer please contact Sue on 01535 632976 or visit www.fallfest.co.uk.

SIMPLY COUNTRY COOKING

by Cath Bromwich

CHOCOLATE FRIDGE CAKE

This is a real 'quikkie' that tastes very good.

I know this because people keep telling me so! I used to be more of a purist with baking, but sometimes needs must, and I need quick and tasty gluten free options that I can take places and share with everyone. You see, this is a versatile recipe because you can make it with 'normal' biscuits or gluten free ones. Gluten free baking can take a little extra effort so again this is a really nice thing you can do for a friend if they need something gluten free. It is also so very nice for people with special diets to have something that they can share with others, eat the same as others, and that people come back for more.

Ingredients:

You will need a 20cm x 20cm baking tin lined with any baking paper.

- 100g Butter
- 1 Tablespoon Syrup
- 2 Tablespoons drinking chocolate or 3 dessertspoons cocoa
- 225g Sweet biscuits (gluten free or normal), beaten up into crumbs with a rolling pin
- 1 Handful sultanas
- 12 Glace cherries, sliced in half

For the topping:

- 50g Plain or milk chocolate
- 1 Dessertspoon milk

Instructions:

Gently melt the butter and mix with the syrup and cocoa.

Mix in biscuit crumbs, sultanas and cherries.

Press into lined tin, cool and then put in fridge.

When solidified melt the chocolate and mix with the milk, quickly spread on the top of the cake with a spatula, return to fridge.

Cut into 20 squares and keep in the fridge until eaten!

I have made and chilled this ready to eat in an hour but the longer it has in the fridge the better.

Brian thinks he needs a pension...

Meet Brian.

Brian has a bit of money in the bank and plans to pay off his mortgage before retirement. But his house has not increased in value as he expected and having just enrolled in the Company pension scheme he is now thinking that he would like to get all his affairs in order.

Brian decides to look into pensions and gathers up some information

“There is so much choice - Where do I start?” Let’s look at a simple personal pension” Brian thought.

“A personal pension portfolio gives you the opportunity to exercise choice on the journey to your retirement destination. You’ll need to decide how much you can feasibly afford to contribute, and how much risk you’re prepared to take”...[“Eh? What risks?” thought Brian. “I don’t want to take any risks. What does this mean?”]

Still reading.....“you may also want to think about what circumstances may change your attitude to risk and what other types of risks may affect your retirement provision. It is always best to seek financial advice on such matters.....” [“Oh here we go” snorted Brian “it’s just a means of them making money.”] He slams the brochure down on the table “this is far too difficult” he moans. “Anyway I am now in the Company pension scheme. That’ll do.”

Brian has his mind changed—a little...

Later, Brian asks his colleague if he has a pension. “Yes” said Rich—“had one since I was 18 years old”.

“Well you don’t need that now then do you Rich, as there’s a company scheme in place!” scoffed Brian

Rich was quick to respond “I do. My Mum had to go on working a long time past when she wanted to finish as she couldn’t afford to stop, even though she was in the Company pension scheme. She had severe arthritis and was in pain all the time” he said sadly “Best to understand what both a personal pension and a company scheme have to offer, I suppose, to make sure you have enough to stop work if you really have to.” Brian goes away thinking. Eventually he decides to take some financial advice to see what is best for him.

Brian meets with a financial adviser

The adviser meets with Brian and advises

“As you have a company scheme starting up, I will look into the details of this before advising you further on a personal pension. I want to give you the confidence that you have the right plans in place so that you have the chance of retiring or taking your pension, when you wish.”

The adviser clearly and simply explains attitude to risk to Brian and looks at his current financial position. He takes his time understanding Brian’s needs and considers his circumstances in the round.

“Well I really didn’t think I needed an adviser before, but I am pleased I met with this one. It has straightened a few things out for me and I am now much clearer.” “Yes, really nothing to be worried about at all” he said, sighing with relief.

PEOPLE AT THE PARSONAGE

Summer is here and once again the Bronte Parsonage Museum is working with Keighley and Worth Valley Railway to encourage residents and visitors alike to explore both local attractions. Helping us to develop partnerships like this are our newly appointed Outreach and Events Officers, Diane Fare and Lauren Livesey. Together with Sue, our Learning Officer, they are looking forward to forging new and stronger links with our audiences, both in the local community and beyond. This month we hear from Diane.

Tell us a little about yourself:

I spent many years teaching English Literature and American Studies at various universities before taking some time off work to raise my family. During these years I started volunteering for Hebden Bridge Arts Festival, eventually joining the Board and becoming the Volunteers Coordinator, which involves looking after the volunteers, running the box office and coordinating the Front of House staffing for festival events. I returned to part-time work with Calderdale Libraries and Museums Service last summer before joining the Parsonage team as a Museum Assistant in November.

Tell us about a typical day:

Lauren and I deal with group bookings, so we spend time responding to queries from all manner of groups – schools, colleges, coach parties, book groups, WI groups, family groups or friends celebrating a special birthday – and suggesting ways in which they can enhance their visit. We are also responsible for Museum events, not only ensuring they run smoothly but also helping to develop the programme. One of the most exciting aspects of our new role is the prospect of building meaningful relationships with local community groups and other venues and cultural organisations across Yorkshire and beyond, and so we might spend some of our day discussing how best to make this happen.

What is your favourite item in the Museum's collection?

It's very difficult to limit myself to one item, but I find Anne's collection of pebbles from Scarborough beach very poignant, given that Scarborough became her final resting place, and perhaps also because I love that stretch of Yorkshire coast.

And your favourite Brontë novel or quote?

Jane Eyre is probably my favourite, perhaps because, like many others, it was my gateway in to the world of the Brontës, but I do have Agnes Grey on my bedside table at the moment, which I feel has been neglected and deserves more attention. I'm currently reading Charlotte Brontë's letters, and one of my favourite quotes is from 1845: 'I long to travel, to work, to live a life of action. Meantime, life wears away. I shall soon be thirty, and I have done nothing yet ...' How wrong Charlotte was!

Anything else you'd like to tell us?

Just that I'm very excited about this new role, and I'm proud to be part of a dedicated and enthusiastic museum team. Lauren and I are already looking ahead to the next four years of bicentenaries and are thinking about how we can build on our existing partnerships and forge new ones throughout Yorkshire and beyond.

The 2016 glittering award ceremony was once again held at Victoria Hall in Keighley with Harry Gratton from BBC's Look North as compere. The overall business of the year was awarded to Acorn Stairlifts.

Wendy and the KBA steering group would like to thank all of the sponsors who without their kind sponsorship the awards could not go ahead. CAN A WILL BE VARIED?

£500,000. By that time Alan is aged 54, a widower with two children; Rita aged 28 and George aged 24. Rita is about to get married and start a family and George is looking to buy a house. Alan's own estate is worth £600,000. If Alan inherits from his mother's estate, the value of his estate will increase to £1.1 million and leave him with a potentially significant inheritance tax liability on his death.

What is a Deed of Variation of a Will? It is a legal document by which a beneficiary (over 18 years with mental capacity)

So, what should Alan do? He doesn't need his mother's inheritance and is quite happy to pass this to his children. Alan could inherit from his mother's estate and gift his inheritance to his children as a potentially exempt transfer from inheritance tax; but, if he dies within 7 years of making the gift, the value of it is brought back into his estate for inheritance tax purposes and taxed accordingly. The best option is for Alan to enter into a Deed of Variation to his mother's Will. He can then ensure that the inheritance passes directly from his mother to his children without any worry of needing to survive for 7 years because the effect of the Deed of Variation is to read the gift back into the Will and deem it to be a gift direct from Mary to her grandchildren.

The above is a simple example. It is important to take legal advice before entering into any documentation that could affect your legal entitlement under a Will.

can vary the terms of the deceased's Will following death. The Deed must be in writing and made within two years of the date of death to be effective for tax purposes. When would you consider doing this?

Take the following example. Mary and Stanley make Wills in 1985 leaving everything to each other. If they have both died, their Wills provide that everything will go to their only child, Alan aged 23 at the time the Wills are made. Stanley dies in 2000 and his entire estate passes to his wife Mary. Mary does not change her Will when Stanley dies as she knows that it already provides that everything will go to their son Alan.

Mary dies in 2016 leaving an estate worth

Anniversaries abound!

It's nearly 150 years since the Railway first opened in 1867 and in 2018 we will be celebrating 50 years since the Preservation Society reopened the line in 1968.

Both events were all about connecting the valley: the first opening was to connect the mills and the second for the villages, with local people not wanting to see their local Railway close. Since 1968 the focus has shifted as we now fulfil an important role preserving our industrial heritage and, particularly with us being known as the location for the filming of the Railway Children, our passengers want to understand the history of the line and relive a golden age of rail travel.

Making connections is still what we are about, and helping our passengers to appreciate all that the valley offers beyond a trip on the train is at the heart of a number of recent initiatives.

One such is that we are working with the Brontë Parsonage to fund jointly a vintage 'bus service running between Haworth Station, Main Street and the Parsonage over the summer. We are keen to make it as easy as possible for our passengers to enjoy both the Railway and the nearby attraction of Haworth and the Parsonage in particular, but we know that the hill can be too much of a challenge for some of our visitors. We hope that the combination of the 'bus, which is free to Railway Rover and Parsonage ticket holders, and the discount that we and the Parsonage are offering each other's visitors, will help drive - quite literally - more visitors.

At Ingrow Station, in partnership with the two societies based there, we have launched 'Rail

Story' which links the museums on the site with the Railway's station to explain to visitors the history of rail travel, with the Bahamas Locomotive Society focusing on the locomotives that haul trains, and the other focused on historic carriages, all restored to a fantastic condition, but which still run on Vintage Train days on the Railway. There are a number of launch special events planned, so please check the website for details, and we plan to develop the site further over the coming years to offer even more for visitors to enjoy.

I do hope that will join us over the summer and make use of the vintage 'bus service as well as see the developments at Ingrow progress. We run trains every day until 11th September and don't forget to apply for a local resident's discount card if you live in BD20, 21 or 22 to get the best value tickets.

GEM: Meeting the Rise in Demand for First Aid Training

Business name: GEM Compliance Training
 Founder(s) name: Gavin Milligan & Emma Milligan
 Based in: Keighley, West Yorkshire
 Website: www.gemcompliancetraining.co.uk
 Twitter: @GemCompliance
 Facebook: @gemcompliancetraining
 Telephone: 01535 445002

Q. Explain your business in the time it would take the kettle to boil or drink to be poured?

At GEM Compliance Training, we specialise in delivering accredited First Aid and other Safety training to support the compliance training needs for workplaces, groups and individuals. You can either book on to one of our public courses open to anybody wishing to book a place or places for a group. We can bring our training courses out to workplaces right across the Yorkshire region and wider areas.

Q. Where are you based and why is it a good location for your business?

We have training venues based in Keighley, Skipton, Bradford & Bingley. Our office is based in Airedale Enterprise Services in Keighley which is a good central location to support the delivery of our public courses held in Yorkshire and the wider areas.

Q. How did you come up with the idea?

My business partner and I have over 20 years' experience within the training industry mainly in the delivery and management of apprenticeships and compliance training. From time to time we had to seek externally to source

First Aid and other Safety training to compliment the apprenticeship we were involved in delivering. This proved difficult at times as there was not much option out there. It was during this period we realised there was a gap in the market for this type of training.

Q. What's unique about your business?

We pride ourselves on our approach in meeting our client's needs and offer flexibility to also run courses in evenings, weekends, something our competitors not always offer.

We provide public courses at four locations, open to anybody wishing to book a place(s) that offers more flexibility than our competitors.

We've integrated an online booking system into our website making it easy for our clients to book onto our public courses. We also work with community groups to offer low cost courses and where possible sourced funding to upskill the local communities.

Q. Biggest achievement so far?

Recently we were delighted to be given a Special Recognition award at the Keighley Business Awards for the Small Business of the Year category.
