WARNING: INSURERS CAN SERIOUSLY DAMAGE YOUR WEALTH

If you have been involved in an accident that wasn't your fault you may be contacted by insurers inviting you to settle your claim without getting legal advice.

If this happens it is vital you contact us immediately.

An offer from an insurer will be an attempt to settle with you as cheaply as possible for them. They know this is professional misconduct and they know it breaks court rules - but they keep on doing it anyway!

Independent research shows that Solicitors obtain almost three times more on average than insurers offer directly.

At O'Neill Injury Solicitors we have more than 20 years experience in dealing with personal injury claims and we want you to get the amount you are entitled to - not what the insurers think they can get away with.

We cover Keighley and Skipton and surrounding areas. We would be delighted to see you at home, for free, to advise you on any aspect of bringing a personal injury claim to make sure you are properly compensated.

Help us to help you to get your rightful compensation.

This firm is authorised and regulated by the Solicitors Regulation Authority registration no 564827

Enjoy your Haworth Festival programme inside this month's Worth Valley Mag. The Festival has been re-branded and benefits from a fresh new look!

Ripples and waves of enthusiasm are building in preparation for welcoming thousands of visitors to the district for the Tour de France Grand Depart. It is our stunning landscape and creative community that are drawing the attention of the world's media. Read more about local preparations, Fields of Vision landart, exhibitions, and community happenings in the pages that follow. We hope the joy of the occasion will be the main thing you will remember about this famous race passing our doors. Look out for our special 'Worth The Tour' souvenir publication produced in partnership with Crux Communications and available locally to celebrate the Grand Depart. Allez Allez!

Spreading the Love

While driving home along Shaw Lane, Oxenhope, one evening I couldn't help but notice a lady standing on the roadside photographing the now familiar 'Hollywood' sign.

I pointed out that the salutation was just in the process of being dismantled, with only 'Love' the first word of 'Love Life' left standing. It was waiting to be replaced with something new.

Once a journalist, always a journalist - so I pulled over to have a chat.

"Oh I know that," she said with a smile. "I'm sending this one to someone I love."

Gerry Crookes, Worth the Tour

"I'm taking pictures of all of them - every time the message changes," she explained.

As part of my Spread the Love project I will be planting lots of tiny ceramic hearts around this circular 5.5 mile off-road route (mapped by Pathways Pete). Meet at the church steps at the top of Main st in Haworth...and we will have a lovely social run...searching for hearts and spreading the love as we go. Jane Sedgwick

Christian Aid Week 2014

by Chris Upton, West Lane Baptist Church

Allow me to comment on two separate but related reflections on growth and change.

Over the last 13 years my front hedge has grown and grown, and every year I have trimmed and tidied it up. Gradually it has crept forward and made visibility worse and worse for those driving into and out of the church. A few weeks ago I butchered it good and proper taking nearly a foot off the width, leaving it gaunt and skeletal and I can see straight through it. I hope it will grow into its new shape... time will tell.

For the first time in my memory the Churches Together group did not take up a house-to-house collection for Christian Aid week. This meant that:

There was no phoning around trying to get collectors.

There were no miserable evenings spent door knocking in the rain and no embarrassed fumbings in purses for a few coppers just to show willing.

There were no buttons, euros, paperclips and fresh air found inside little red collection envelopes!

If that were the whole story one might be forgiven in thinking that Christian Aid week had failed, but as you know from last months Worth Valley Mag the Churches Together group took a very different approach this year, and I am delighted to write that it was a great success. Donations of sellable goods came in thick and fast, and a shop from which to sell them was found.

A mighty 'hats off' and thank you to Rita from Sonia's Smile for allowing us to use her shop for the week. We raised £1721! £1200 more than last year... Thank you to everyone that brought stuff in and helped in the shop.

I am firmly convinced that the unconditional love of God can strengthen, enliven and nourish everything we do. As someone committed to the local church and community I have to respond to the changing needs and circumstances that arise. Doing things differently is scary and might be viewed as failure, but repeating the same pattern as before with increasingly diminishing returns is foolish. What might need to be changed in your life to enable something better to grow?

Walk from Cliffe Castle to East Riddlesden Hall

This walk takes approximately 1 hour and starts in Cliffe Castle car park. Pass through the small entrance in the corner and follow the glass houses around to the archway beneath Tower House.

Tower House

Tower House was a gatehouse. It was connected to the main house by glasshouses. Cliffe Castle Park Café is now located next to Tower House.

Don't go through the archway but continue to walk down hill. On your left you will see Cliffe

Castle Play Area. On your right you will see Cliffe Castle Museum. Head towards the Museum.

Cliffe Castle Museum

Cliffe Hall, as it was then called, was built by lawyer Christopher Netherwood in 1833. In 1848 it became the home of the mill owning Butterfield family. It has been a museum since 1959.

When you reach the portico entrance to the Museum stay on the driveway with the castellated wall on your right until you reach one of the Park's smaller entrances. Turn left and pass the band stand

Bandstand

In 1960 concerts were held in the Park every Sunday at 3 p.m. and 7.15 pm. The present bandstand was built in 1962 and is still a popular venue for concerts in the summer months.

Stay on this path for the entire length of the Park and pass through the gateway onto busy Skipton Road.

Castle Walls /Skipton Road.

The walls that give the grounds a castle like appearance were built in 1878. Skipton Road was built in 1825. Trams would have once run along it.

Keighley Railway.

The railway first came to Keighley on March 16th 1847. In September 1847 the line was extended to Skipton.

After the railway bridge you will see the new cycle path on the right. Walk along the path through the woodland. This will take you under the Aire Valley Trunk Road (A629) and into Royd Ings Avenue.

A public footpath sign directs you to an easily missed footpath that runs beside the entrance to the recycling centre on your left. A yellow arrow points you through a copse which leads you to a gate. Pass through the gate into field then take a right diagonal to a stile. Another yellow arrow reassures you that you are going the right way. Follow the path which runs along side the River Aire.

River Aire

The River Aire starts at Malham Tarn. It is 71 miles (114 km) in length. Part of the river is canalised, and is known as the Aire and Calder Navigation. The mouth of the River is in the River Ouse.

The path leads you to steps that take you onto Bradford Road. Turn left and take the bridge across the Aire. You are now in Riddlesden.

Riddlesden.

Turn left up Bar Lane and continue until you reach the Leeds and Liverpool Canal.

Leeds and Liverpool Canal.

At 127 miles long (204 km), the Leeds and Liverpool Canal is the longest canal in the North of England. The stretch from Skipton to Bingley was the first part to open in 1773.

Beechcliffe Enclosure

Turn right along the towpath. Just before the next bridge you pass a chandlery. Turn right across the bridge.

Back on Bradford Road, a pelican crossing allows you to cross the road to East Riddlesden Hall.

East Riddlesden Hall.

East Riddlesden Hall is a 17th-century manor house, built in 1642 by a wealthy Halifax clothier, James Murgatroyd. It is now owned by the National Trust.

Cycle route from Cliffe Castle to East Riddlesden Hall

Go out of the Beechcliffe entrance of Cliffe Castle Park and cross the Skipton Road near to the pedestrian lights.

Go under the railway bridge and you will see the new cycle path on the right.

Cycle along the path through the woodland. This will take you under the Aire Valley Trunk Road (A629) and into Royd Ings Avenue.

Follow the cycle lane along Royd Ings Avenue Here the cycle rout and the walk separate. The cycle route continues along Royd Ings Avenue passing the police station and shopping area on the right.

At the T junction turn left into Bradford Road and go over the River Aire by Stock Bridge. Here the cycle route meets up with the walk again.

Turn right down Granby Road and cross the Bradford Road to East Riddlesden Hall.

Thrills and spills for Summer Jam

A real buzz is building up around Summer Jam – the major music festival taking place in Silsden over the August Bank Holiday – with a packed programme of bands and entertainment to suit all tastes.

Saturday's headliners have been announced as Sheffield-based Indie pop band Reverend and The Makers, fronted by Jon McClure - AKA The Reverend. They grew out of the indie rock renaissance of 2005 and were at the forefront of the Sheffield scene, along with friends the Arctic Monkeys.

The Rev prides himself on staying close to his roots saying: "I'm really into the idea of playing in places that don't usually get a look-in" and Summer Jam organiser John Beaumont added: "Our festival certainly fits the bill, as this will be the first time Silsden has seen a musical event on this scale.

"The northern dates of the Reverends' have tour sold out months in advance, so if you want to see them in Silsden, do please get your tickets now – especially if you intend to camp, as pitches are limited."

Reverend and the Makers join Sunday headliner Bruce Foxton, former bassist with mod icons The Jam and his aptly-named band From the Jam. Tom Hingley, former vocalist with Manchester indie band Inspiral Carpets tops the bill on Friday and the festival will also showcase local talent and up-and-coming unsigned bands.

A popular attraction among locals is proving to be the dance marquee starring top house, funk, soul and northern soul DJs like Mick Tole, Mark Wilkie, Danny Bond, Rob Tissera, Dave Longy, Tim Charlton and Sean Coy.

Summer Jam, on Riverside Fields, Silsden from Friday August 22 to Sunday August 24, is supporting Teenage Cancer Trust and is family-friendly, with a fun programme of daytime activities.

Festival-goers (kids and big kids of all ages) can have a go on the largest inflatable slide in Europe – courtesy of Steeton-based Royal Inflatables. This 55ft high monster is not for the faint hearted!

The brave will also relish the chance to try the Quasar Arena – an inflatable tent where players battle it out with laser guns, in the dark, to the beat of heart-pumping spooky soundtracks.

In keeping with the sci-fi theme, watch out for some mysterious Star Wars characters beaming in to mingle with the crowd and support the charity effort. There will be fairground rides and a range of stalls and refreshments.

Worth the Tour magazine

Worth the Tour is publishing a full-colour glossy magazine to inform residents & visitors of all the great things going on in our local area – and also to provide them with a souvenir of this event-of-a-lifetime. The magazine will be on sale at Keighley & Haworth hubs, Victoria Hall, the Manorlands Campsites, Riverside Le Tour Campsite in Silsden and Oxenhope Straw Race, with a proportion of the proceeds going to Manorlands, Teenage Cancer Trust and other good causes. fields of vision

It's almost upon us! We are now into the last leg of the run-up to the Grand Départ and the excitement is really building.

Our valley has been a media hot spot in recent weeks with visits from Look North, ITV news, BBC Countryfile and The Times to name but a few. And Team Worth the Tour hooked up with Keighley's Tour de France Frank (Frank O'Dwyer) for Radio Leeds' Keighley Library broadcast around the preparations.

The spotlight has fallen on our own

Hollywood project – the iconic sign on the hillside above Shaw Lane in Oxenhope. The salutation has taken on a few more incarnations, including READ THE BOOK, LOVE LIFE, DRINK MILK, and now LOVE YORKSHIRE.... then it's nearly time for the final message we've all been waiting for.

The Countryfile crew were keen on the Fields of Vision project – so how appropriate that a sheepdog trial on Simon Manfield's 'One Man and His Dog' artwork in Stanbury was one of the star attractions for the project's official launch on Saturday, June 7. (Countryfile feature will air June 22) Despite driving rain, a brave crowd turned out to the viewpoint on Cemetery Road, representing the Fields of Vision team, Worth Valley Young Farmers, Worth the Tour and the local community. Keelham Farm Shop owner Victoria Robertshaw presented competition winners James Ingham and Poppy Batch with their prize hampers. Of course the bad weather was no barrier for hardy farmer Ian Ibbotson and his sheep dog, who were able to bring Simon's artistic vision to life and successfully drive their sheep into the outstretched hand of the shepherd figure. Woody (Andrew Wood) and the Young Farmers have been hard at work preparing the Fields for the artists working on this high-profile land art which will animate the route as part of Yorkshire Festival 2014. Meanwhile, the Worth the Tour team have been beavering away behind the scenes on videography, photography, guide maps and interpretation boards.

The Worth Valley site (best viewed from The Three Acres Inn) with Razwan Ul-Haq's Finite Cycle of Time looks stunning, 9-year-old Poppy Batch's Big Bad Wolf in Haworth is already blowing people away and Simon Manfield's One Man and His Dog is getting spruced up with new a paint job at fortnightly intervals. When we went to press, Steve Messam's Ravens were nesting in nicely at Stanbury while Louise Lockhart's Leaping Lady at Oxenhope and 9-year-old James Ingham's Farm Friends at Hainworth were nearing completion.

Hub happenings

Arrangements are in place for Haworth's Grand Départ Spectator Hub in Central Park. Facilities and entertainment, running over Saturday and Sunday are looking like this:

- Big screen viewing of the Grand Départ
- Children's activities and workshops
- Children's rides
- Refreshments, catering and event bar
- Music performances from local artists during Saturday and Sunday afternoons
- Live music on Saturday night (to 23:00)
- Market stalls to support local traders and others
- Secure cycle storage

There are still some stalls available on the produce market To apply contact Andrew Vaux on 07871 264 610 or email Andrew@arvapr.co.uk

Friends of Holden Park and Oakworth Primary school have been rallying after bikes donated for the Grand Depart were stolen just weeks before being displayed as part of Yorkshire In Bloom.

School children have been painting containers and helping with the planting.

The remaining bikes will be displayed on the school fence and around Holden Park Oakworth bowling green. To deter anymore bikes going missing, Friends of Holden Park will be marking them with smart water.

The hope is that the remaining bikes and planters can be sold for donations to Holden Park, at this years Fairy Fest on the 9th August to help with funding to update the old tennis courts.

CHANGES TO FAMILY LAW

You may have heard recently in the press about the significant reforms of the Family Justice System.

The headline changes which took place in April are:

- To introduce a single specialist family court replacing the current three tiers of family court;
- Creating "Child Arrangement Orders" to replace "contact" and "residence" orders (previously access and custody) and
- Effecting new processes to improve timescales in children proceedings
- Requirement to attend a compulsory mediation awareness session if you have a dispute relating to children or finances
- Improving transparency whilst protecting children's identities still.

They also follow the introduction of same sex marriage which took effect on 29 March 2014.

Here at Walker Foster Solicitors we recognise that this is one of the most complex and emotive of all legal subjects. Issues relating to the family need specialist input from experts with the sensitivity and understanding to handle your case with the care and attention it deserves.

Our team is highly experienced and has been supporting families in North Yorkshire for many years. With offices in Skipton, Ilkley, Silsden and Barnoldswick our team, now headed up by Liz Hebden and supported by Geraldine Farry and Suzanne Preston put great importance on excellent client service and are dedicated to help families through this difficult time.

Please call our Silsden office on 01535 656000 or pop in to arrange an appointment

The Summer Sweep Special is back!

Hello it's Chris from Bristles Chimney Sweep Service! I would like to start by saying a big "thank you" to all my customers for your business and I look forward to seeing you all over the coming months.

Many people fail to get their chimneys swept or appliances serviced regularly either through neglect, not understanding the necessity or for financial reasons. A chimney is basically a household exhaust pipe channeling soot, smoke gases, hot ashes and sparks away. If it is unable to perform any of these tasks, that is where problems occur i.e. chimney linings can deteriorate, exposing mortar joints and brickwork to corrosion and possibly collapse (a greater risk in older properties) and possibly letting carbon monoxide leak into the property. Carbon monoxide is a colourless and tasteless gas, which is a significant source in the burning of coal, smokeless fuels, wood, oil and gas. It is harmful and if breathed in may result in death if present in sufficient quantities or if a person is exposed to it for a sufficient length of time.

The major cause of carbon monoxide poisoning in the UK is due to poor ventilation and maintenance, blocked flues caused by inadequate maintenance of appliances and infrequent chimney sweeping.

Please call me on 07972 330887 to book the Summer Sweep Special rate.

TOP TECH TIPS by Michelle Thompson at CloudFree IT

Updates – to apply or not to apply? That is the question...

Why is it that when you're in a rush to get on with some work, or it's the end of a long, hard day and you can't wait to get out of the office, you find a bunch of critical Windows updates installing before your computer will start up or shut down properly?

Years ago I realised that Murphy's Law is in charge here. If I ignore updates today, tomorrow I might find my PC crawling along as a result of being riddled with malware and/or sending out spam email to everyone in my contacts list, so I grit my teeth and wait. If there's one thing I have learned in all my years in IT, it's 'don't tempt fate!'

So why is software released with more holes in it than a colander? Today's products are complex in order to meet diverse needs and be compatible with as many hardware and software configurations as possible. They're designed by humans. Humans mess up. Competition in the marketplace means the pressure's always on to get that new product onto as many devices as possible before your rivals beat you to it.

In some cases developers might fix a problem only to create a new problem elsewhere in the product. We 'end-users' are the final 'guinea pigs' in a never ending chain of testing, refining and re-testing. Software updates, service packs, or 'patches', close up flaws or vulnerabilities found after public release, sometimes several years after the original product made its debut. There will still be flaws in Windows XP, which will never be fixed now Microsoft has ceased support.

It's impossible to test products against every possible hardware & software configuration in the world, so occasionally an update may cause problems, or may even stop your computer functioning altogether. Thankfully the probability of your PC getting mangled by an 'update gone bad' is actually pretty small.

You should install all operating system updates labelled 'Urgent', 'Important' or 'Critical'. Anything labelled 'Optional' is just that. It is advisable to allow updates to install automatically unless you have a particularly complex or unusual configuration. If you prefer to review and install updates manually you should be checking at least once a week.

What's the risk of ignoring critical updates?

1. Security vulnerabilities remain open to exploitation if not patched. 'Cyber-Criminals' love an unpatched computer (or millions of them) to do their evil bidding (mwahahaha!)
2. Unpatched software may be unstable and prone to crashing.
3. Don't expect full support from the software vendor if you have not applied updates
4. Personal data may be at risk (the most important bit, in my view)

Are there any good reasons not to install critical updates?

There's only one really. Where a particular update has been reported widely as causing a problem in similar circumstances to yours (e.g. same version of software and/or hardware as yours) you might hold off applying that update, but only that one, until a revised update is released.

In addition to operating system updates you should also ensure that Java, Adobe Flash & Reader (where installed) and your anti-virus/internet security products are all kept up to date.

If you get update notifications for software products you don't recognise (or that look a bit 'dodgy'), or updates repeatedly fail to install, do seek advice – it could be a sign of malware infection.

Remember, malware can be far more time-consuming to sort out than waiting for a few updates or even a full Windows Service Pack to download and install!
