With Halloween and bonfire night nearly behind us, we are well and truly in the 'silly season' as I like to call it; time for the pantomime, school nativity plays, gift fairs, Christmas light extravaganzas, etc. etc. It is both an exciting and exhausting time of year. We have gathered a number of options for your calendar. Enjoy the season and stay safe!

I recently had the pleasure of lingering in the shops of Haworth, camera in hand, under the veiled cloak called 'research.' How else was I to write about shopping on our famous cobbled Main Street? The first of a two part feature is published in this month's magazine.

Additionally, I have worked with the Haworth Experience group and the Bronte Parsonage to bring you the Christmas Events leaflet bound into our centre pages.

November means Steampunk to many. For the exotic, eccentric, or simply curious it is the perfect event to kick off the Victorian theme that remains in Haworth until Christmas.

If you are looking to broaden your dining experiences The Black Bull has a new chef. Read more on page 26.

And if you haven't been for a meal at The Three Acres in Cross Roads for a while now is a good opportunity to sample their excellent homestyle menu. Meet the Hudson family as featured in this edition. They are offering a £5 voucher for dining with them mid week.

Have a great November!

THE 3 Acres

What comes to mind when someone mentions The Three Acres in Cross Roads? "Oh, you mean The Quarry House?" It's funny how certain things stick in peoples memory. "They do the carvery, right?" Change can be challenging but the Hudson Family have made great strides in reshaping The Three Acres, (formerly The Quarry House), a business they own and passionately manage themselves. The carvery is long gone but there is always a roast dinner on the menu and the homemade Yorkshire puddings are to die for! Chef Tom, the son of owners Mark & Jayne Hudson, trained as a chef at Craven College before moving on to gain a BSc honours degree in Nutrition, Health & Lifestyle, at Sheffield Hallam University. He now leads the kitchen team. "I've put together a menu that showcases our fantastic local suppliers. Our meat is sourced from J. Paul Leadbeater & Son Butchers just down the road. The Steak & Goose Eye pie is without a doubt a firm favourite of many," Tom enthuses. The weekly changing specials enable Tom and his team to put seasonal dishes on the chalk board. "Our menu can also be tailored to suit various dietary requirements, for example, diners who want gluten free options." Emma Hudson has developed the events, catering and wedding services for the business. The facilities at the Three Acres include the Old Barn which is a rustic but elegant function suite that can cater for up to 200 people. "We are really delighted with the feedback we are receiving. It's so encouraging to know we are getting things right for our customers.," confirmed Emma. Mark and Jayne continue to re-invest in The Three Acres. Jayne even decided to go back to college to obtain an NVQ in Hospitality. "We are all working together to create the very best experience for our visitors and we value the community in which we live and work," explained Mark. "We extend a warm welcome to customers old and new and look forward to serving even more local people in the coming months."

'Operation One-bin' exceeds its goal in Haworth

Traders and residents in Haworth joined forces to clean up a huge car park in the village which gives a first and last impression for many visitors.

And a whip round among local businesses has raised enough money for a new litter bin to be installed in the car park.

The Bronte Village Car Park in Weavers Hill is on several levels surrounded by trees and can attract rubbish, litter and other nuisance.

Artist and owner of the Main Street gallery Werxovart, Sonje Hibbert, recently set out on "Operation Onebin" – her challenge to local businesses to rustle up enough funding for one new bin in the car park.

Sonje was delighted to raise the £300 needed for the bin very quickly, and also to be offered another second hand bin from resident Gillian Stanley who works for Bradford based firm GSM, which makes and installs bins.

Now Haworth, Cross Roads and Stanbury Parish Councillors are adding their support by funding a third bin.

Sonje said: "I've only taken a bit of a lead from what most local people actually think and feel about the area. The response has been fantastic, and now the outcome should be three bins, not just one!"

A further clean up is planned Tuesday 15th Nov 3.30 - 5pm. Meet at the Black Bull Car Park. Contact Sonje at Werxovart werxovart@yahoo.com, or Liz Parker at Keighley Area Co-ordinator's office , 01535 618008 liz.parker@bradford.gov.uk

This Christmas at Bolton Abbey

Meet Father Christmas in Strid Wood

After a 4,000 mile trip from the North Pole, Father Christmas will be staying in Strid Wood in a Romany caravan on various dates throughout December from 10am to 4pm.

Meet Father Christmas and his merry elves. Each child will receive a personalised, age-appropriate gift and the opportunity to have their photograph taken with Father Christmas at the end of their visit.

With open log fires, a wishing tree and Christmas carols to sing along to, it really is a truly magical experience. What's more, Father Christmas brings with him his very own reindeer dust that children can take home for Christmas Eve.

Bookings for this popular event are being taken online at www.boltonabbey.com. The last few years have sold out and bookings are already selling faster than before, so we urge you to book now to avoid disappointment.

Live Nativity

Another new event this Christmas is the live Nativity at the Priory Church on 20th December.

There are performances at 12 noon and 2pm, no need to book just arrive at the village car park at least 15 minutes prior to the performance (normal estate admission applies). A main cast will lead this interactive tale of the Christmas story. Children are welcome to attend as Shepherds, Kings or Angels and join in with the magic. Real animals will help bring the story to life.

The event is outside so please wrap up warm. Refreshments will be available by the Priory Church.

New for 2016 The Panto Trail

From 17th December until 2nd January bring friends and family young and old to Bolton Abbey for a winter woodland walk with a difference.

The pantomime trail is suitable for all ages. Following the trail to the Strid you will encounter many scenes from your favourite pantomimes; Cinderella, Snow White, Pinocchio and Dick Whittington to name but a few!

A number of the scenes are interactive or beautifully lit with fairy lights. This free family event is one not to be missed and is accessible to all, with access for pushchairs and wheelchairs. The estate's admission fee of £8 per vehicle applies.

Further details about all these events and more can be found at www.boltonabbey.com

Haworth Main Street

When was the last time you visited Haworth Main Street?

We recently took a leisurely stroll up the famous cobblestone setts, wallet in hand, in search of retail therapy and we weren't disappointed.

With Christmas round the corner it is reassuring to know there is plenty of choice on our doorstep; in fact, we are blessed with a wonderful mix of shops, boutiques, cafes and restaurants brimming with delights.

On this visit our eye was particularly keen on scoping out the retail hot spots.

First up is Modo & Co. a well established design house that has recently opened a shop. If you are a lover of graphic design, typography and quotations of the inspirational and quirky kind, this is a definite stop for you. Personalisation is in their DNA at Modo. There is nothing quite so gratifying to see a loved ones name and a special occasion framed and suitably commemorated.

A few steps away Lighthouse Lane beckons. Smiles await us within this fun and lighthearted space. Artist Katie Shelmerdine is seated in the corner of the shop drawing at a large desk. She raises her head to say hello. Lighthouse Lane is filled with her cheerful artwork particularly suited for children though there is much on offer for the child in all of us.

Further up the street, past The Fleece, No71 is the next enticement on our excursion.

Bizarre and humorous are the two words we'd use to describe No. 71. With an array of animal themed gifts like a zebra wall vase or a Napoleon Stag Head and a Waggy Tail dog clock, it is hard not to like this shop. We note the A board reads, 'No. 71 Licenced to sell wonderful things.' Indeed!

Next door, the scent of floral room diffusers and Wood Wick candles spills into the street. Simple Inspirations is a place for indulgent gifts to pamper and delight.

Continuing along on the same side of the street is Origin 8, a gift shop filled to the brim with decorative homeware, cushions, plaques, lamps, vases, jewellery, garden ornaments, and most notably, plants. We couldn't resist the aloe vera.

Ceramicist, painter, and mixed media artist Sonje Hibbert has returned to Haworth. Her studio gallery, Werxzovart, is located about half way up the Main Street at number 75. A selection of vessels in stoneware clay, paintings, collages, and sculptures occupy the gallery. For the art collector reading this, do remember to bring your chequebook.

Oates & Willes is our next stop. Ok, we must admit we have a soft spot for this place. It has recently morphed into a musicians' den for guitars, plectrums, tuners, guitar strings, and very groovy ukuleles. Everyone should own a ukulele, right? But you will also find the most gorgeous hand puppets too.

Next door, the epicentre for Fairtrade in this, the world's first Fairtrade village, is Sonia's Smile. Patchouli and Sandalwood mix with Neem; a heady scent to greet us from this tiny but mighty shop. We stock up on incense, chocolate, & coffee while searching for the ultimate in chunky woolly jumpers. Say hello to our friend Rita. She's the one with pink hair.

Hatchard and Daughters, a truly inspiring place in Haworth, offers a wide selection of second hand and antiquarian books with a special focus on the Brontes and Railways.

Going back to the subject of chocolate; whilst walking up the street, you may well be approached by a friendly person, bowl and tong in hand, exploring you to sample the most intoxicating confection known to mankind. It is the salted toffee and coconut truffles from ...And Chocolate. Beware, it will take wild horses to drive you away from that place!

Next month we will continue our shopping excursion to Haworth. In the mean time, start planning for Christmas and enjoy!

Sue Ryder Manorlands Hospice is searching for members for local Fundraising Groups.

The Oxenhope based hospice currently has 9 Fundraising groups which organise their own small fundraising events throughout the year. Between them they raise around £100,000 each year. As a hospice we are hoping to grow the amount of groups in the local area to increase the amount raised for the hospice.

Manorlands are currently looking for individuals for a new group in the Worth Valley area. Groups can meet as little or as often as they like and can choose how to raise the vital income for the hospice. Whether its events, collections or coffee mornings, you'll play an important role in helping support the hospice.

As well as trying to recruit for a new group in the Worth Valley, Manorlands are also looking for members for the newly formed groups, Riddlesden & East Morton, Crosshills & Glusburn, Silsden & Steeton.

If you'd like to fundraise for the hospice with like-minded individuals in a social setting then please get in touch.

Email Manorlands.fundraising@sue Ryder.org or call 01535 640430 to speak to a member of the fundraising team.

It is no secret that the Black Bull has established itself as a live music venue in Haworth. Blues, rock, soul, and accoustic jam sessions are regular weekly occurrences in the pub that draw folk from near and far.

Wednesday Quiz Night is also a firm favourite of the local crowd with familiar teams battling it out for prizes and triumphant rounds of ale.

Recently the introduction of a new chef has given landlord Jim Winchester something else to shout about, "I'm delighted to welcome Francis Clarkson to the team in the kitchen. He brings a fresh approach to the menu and complements the long established and loved Asian cuisine that chef Nishat offers."

We asked Francis what he was bringing to the table that might entice new diners to the Black Bull.

"I am focussing on serving traditional homestyle pub food; warming soups, roast dinners, beer battered fish, twice fried, skin on chunky chips, sausage & mash, homemade pies & beef lasagne. I won't have pre packaged processed or bought in meals. I prepare everything fresh. I also make all my own desserts. 'Quality Street' cheesecake is one of my specialities and a real crowd pleaser," Francis asserted.

Jim, clearly delighted with his new chef adds, "It's like art on a plate. Fran really cares about what he is serving and it shows."

The Black Bull has extended its hours for serving food and also offers a full English breakfast menu at the weekends.

Special Keighley & Worth Valley Memories

We followed the Steam Spectacular with the ever-popular Beer & Music weekend when we had even more volunteers rostered both to operate the Railway and also to serve a whole variety of real ales, cider and choice of wines at bars at Oxenhope and Keighley as well on board the two trains in service. The planning involved in getting the bars, music venues, volunteers and the all-important range of beer is immense and involves months and months of effort, along with the work to set everything up and put the Railway back together ready for normal service to resume the following weekend.

Asking our volunteers to run such two high-profile and busy events in one month is a big ask, but we can't relax because we now have to turn our attention to preparing the Railway for the visit of Santa and his Pixies from the end of November. Santa's visit is always popular, and this year even more so than previous with many dates already all but full, so please do book soon to avoid disappoint.

As I started with, it's all about the planning, and having the people willing and able to put so many hours in, often at very unsociable times, to make the Railway run. Without all the behind the scenes work, there wouldn't be a great welcome for Santa's passengers, the beer pumps would run dry and there would be no restored wheels to turn, so no locomotives or carriages to take our passengers on the journey back in time. Please do consider whether you have even just a few hours a month to join our volunteering team. Further details of how to volunteer, as well as details of our services every weekend and through the holidays, are on the website. We look forward to welcoming you on board soon.

www.kwvr.co.uk

As a youngster (which was a fair few years ago!) I visited the Railway and marvelled at the sight, sound and such distinctive smell of the steam locomotives and travelled in the heritage carriages. I loved seeing Oakworth, because The Railway Children was always my favourite film.

I enjoyed the welcome from the uniformed booking staff, hearing the guard's whistle and, with a wave of a flag, we were tackling Keighley bank, where all steam engines, however powerful, struggle for grip as they haul the train up the hill. It was all amazing, inspiring and most definitely got me hooked...

From those visits, I simply had no idea how much effort went into keeping the wheels turning. From the earliest days of the preservation society, our volunteers have struggled to keep the Railway running. Starting with a branch line that British Railways closed to the reopening of the Railway in 1968 took years of negotiation, planning and hard graft, which continues to this day. For the recent Steam Spectacular weekend, for example, we had two visiting locomotives that took months to arrange and well over 100 volunteers operating the Railway over the three days.

Anthem for doomed youth

By Wilfred Owen

September - October, 1917

What passing-bells for these who die as cattle?
 Only the monstrous anger of the guns.
 Only the stuttering rifles' rapid rattle
 Can patter out their hasty orisons.
 No mockeries now for them; no prayers nor bells;
 Nor any voice of mourning save the choirs, -
 The shrill, demented choirs of wailing shells;
 And bugles calling for them from sad shires.
 What candles may be held to speed them all?
 Not in the hands of boys but in their eyes
 Shall shine the holy glimmers of goodbyes.
 The pallor of girls' brows shall be their pall;
 Their flowers the tenderness of patient minds,
 And each slow dusk a drawing-down of blinds.

Wilfred Owen was killed at Ors, near the French Belgian border, on 4 November 1918, at the age of 25.
