This month we publish our biggest edition ever. It seems that despite the hype surrounding digital platforms, good old fashioned print still has its place.

Still, it is great to have the best of both worlds. Our friends at Airedale Enterprise Services are waving the flag for online skills and providing real support for the community to increase its digital literacy. See page 36 and book your one to one session.

The spotlight falls on Mill Hey in Haworth, too often overshadowed by the famous Main Street in the village. A number of developments have put this part of Haworth back on the map and well worth a visit.

Additionally, this month we are asking readers to get behind a unique appeal to support child victims of crime. Please see page 38 and give generously if you are able; the Dear Santa campaign will replace our Secret Santa in the office this year.

Christmas in Haworth publish their sparkling programme. Pull out our centre pages and mark your calendar; you won't want to miss a thing. Enjoy November. Liz

Have you noticed how Mill Hey has a new vibe? It wasn't that long ago that the newly acquired Mill Hey Brewery pub had a gaping hole in its side, a feature left over from the boxing day floods of 2015, and when the entire area felt sad and forlorn.

Broken but not beaten, the true grit of the traders and residents prevailed and there is now a definite upturn and vibrancy in this part of Haworth.

A number of new businesses have contributed to the improved outlook, notably the former mentioned Mill Hey Brewery, and just across the street, the Industry Barbers. Both have a masculine chic industrial sensibility about them, complete with barista lifestyle lounges. The Industry Lounge, located next to the Barbers, is a cozy space for hipsters waiting to have their beards trimmed. There is even a vintage game console with a comfy chair strategically placed in front of it, the ultimate man-cave combination. But the Industry Lounge has its sights set on appealing to the wider community as a meeting place. With a licensed bar it can cater to those who fancy a craft beer, glass of wine, rum or gin. (We spotted Four Folk gin on the shelf; thumbs up for supporting this and other locally produced products.)

To many, Mill Hey remains the 'business' end of the village. One trader commented, "I visit Haworth Main Street to buy birthday gifts and Christmas presents but my everyday 'To-Do List' gets done in Mill Hey." That is a fair comment, after all, in this short stretch of the community one can currently find a grocer, pharmacy, hardware shop, barber, hair dressers, florist, laundrette, vet, pet shop, café, pub, chippy, takeaways, dine ins, a very unique model railway shop & Army surplus store! What more does one need?

Still, Mill Hey could do with a well deserved pat on the back.

Some of the longest established businesses are located here and they have been providing us with vital goods and services for many decades. Furthermore, Rhodes, Snowdens, & the Raj Mahal are all multi generational establishments and embedded in the community. Fotik Miah from Haworth Tandoori added, "Since opening in 1990 we've built a rapport and trust with our customers, their children, and now their grandchildren. Our experience is that Mill Hey is a welcoming face of Haworth. We endeavour to provide a high level of hospitality and quality food, and we will continue to do so in the future."

As for the newbies, their enthusiasm is most welcome.

Annie from Rosa Rugosa, the florist, is brimming with praise for the support and positivity she has received from both her fellow traders as well as new customers. "I'm chuffed with the response to my shop, it has gone beyond what I expected. The workshops are going down a treat. I've had to open up new times to accommodate the demand. And I'm delighted to be working with Richard Wine, the local funeral director. Overall, I am so pleased I took the initiative to open my shop in Mill Hey."

2016. They had a refit and since then expanded further to provide more seating while creating a steampunk styled interior. "We love the feel of the café now," said Kenny. "We have a brilliant local customer base and a lot of support from the volunteers and staff at the KWVR as well as other nearby businesses; it's great to feel like part of the local traders' community."

Further enthusiasm is expressed by Eileen Barnes on the brink of the launch of her laundrette, Peggy Tubs, inspired by her husband and former councillor Ian Shackleton. Ian sadly died in 2012 but Eileen kept his dream alive and she relishes the opportunity to create a community space providing a service for both the public and local businesses. "Everyone has been very supportive. I'm really excited to be here after a long time looking for the right location.," Eileen asserted.

Most will agree, Mill Hey has come a long way. It is asserting itself in a positive new light, open and ready for business as usual, and at the same time, relaxed and welcoming as a leisure space. As we approach Christmas, by all means head to Main Street, but remember, there is plenty to explore in Mill Hey.

CHEAP TRAIN FARES FOR LOCAL RESIDENTS on KWVR

- ◆ Take the train to Keighley to go shopping
- ◆ Avoid road congestion and parking problems
- ◆ Why not visit Haworth for a visit to Main Street, or for a pleasant walk in the country?
- ◆ A great trip out for all the family – great fun for kids!
- ◆ Or simply travel on the train enjoying a pint of Real Ale in our Award Winning Buffet Car
- ◆ Free parking at most stations
- ◆ Space for shopping, prams, bikes and dogs – all carried free!
- ◆ Toilets on most steam trains
- ◆ Trains at convenient times

Since the line re-opened in 1968 the KWVR has very much been part of the local community, although primarily a tourist railway for visitors to the area. For many years however, the KWVR has operated a scheme whereby those people who live local to the railway can get a discount on the price of their tickets – thereby really becoming a community railway.

AM I ELIGIBLE FOR A RESIDENTS' RAILCARD?

If you live in the postcode areas BD20, BD21 or BD22, then yes – you can get a Railcard.

A Railcard is valid for one adult – the one whose name and photo appears on it. Each Adult can take with them up to 3 children aged 5 to 15 inclusive at around half the local resident adult fare. We also offer extra discounts for Senior Citizens and Children, more details on these further down the page.

HOW DO I GET A RAILCARD?

To get a Railcard you firstly need a passport sized photo. Then you simply go down to your nearest KWVR station, present your completed application form (available to download on kwvr.co.uk), provide proof of postcode, and we will issue your railcard. Proof of postcode must be a something recent which shows your name and address. For example driving licence, recent utility bill etc. Child and Senior Railcard applicants will also need to bring proof of age.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?

A Railcard costs £5, and is valid for 1 year. You could save more than the cost of the Railcard in one journey!

WHAT SAVINGS DO I MAKE?

All Local Residents receive 50% discount on the standard fare. This includes Adult, Senior and Child fares.

The Railcard gives discounts on almost every day we run, however, they cannot be used on Santa Special Trains (they can be used on the diesel service which operates on the same day as Santa trains, but not on the Santa trains themselves), or on certain special trains such as dining trains. On almost all other Special Event days they can be used, however the level of discount may be altered on some special events. If in any doubt, please check the web page for the event, or give us a call.

Brontë Parsonage Museum at 90

A History of the Museum in 10 Objects

Haworth Parsonage Sale Catalogue 1861

an auction which took place on 1st and 2nd October 1861.

Candlesticks, tea pots, kitchen scales and furniture were among many general household wares which were included in the sale. Although Charlotte was quite well-known at the time of her death, many people who attended the auction did so in the hope of obtaining a bargain!

A well-known item in the sale was the dining table at which the sisters wrote. It is considered to be one of the most important literary artefacts of the nineteenth century. The use of the dining table as a writers' table is evidenced by the number of ink blots on it and you can tell it has been well-used. It is precisely because of the detailed inventory of the lots sold at the 1861 auction that the provenance of this, and many of the other treasures in the possession of the Brontë Society, can be confirmed.

As well as being a valuable source of provenance, the sale catalogue is an incredible source of information about the daily life of the Brontë family. Included in the auction were fascinating items such as silk umbrellas, a coffee mill and a pestle and mortar. There were also many books listed, including grammar books and a History of Rome.

Being the complete Brontë enthusiast I am, I am so happy to work with these treasures used by the family. It is also exciting to know that Brontë household items, which were sold in that 1861 sale, are still finding their way back to Haworth.

Kate Walker Museum Assistant

9 Working as a Museum Assistant at the Brontë Parsonage is a dream job and a privilege. Meeting visitors from all over the world is a wonderful experience and I enjoy people's reactions to the parsonage and its incredible treasures. The house is graced with items that the family used on a day-to-day basis and I get asked many questions. People are always astounded by the fact that so many of the family's personal possessions have made their way back home.

One of the most significant sources of provenance for the treasures is a sale which took place after Mr Patrick Brontë died in 1861. Mr Nicholls, Charlotte's husband, had stayed at the Parsonage after Charlotte's death in 1855 in order to help Mr Brontë. After Mr Brontë died, Mr Nicholls inherited many of the Brontë family's possessions. He returned to Ireland, his birthplace, and took with him the items he wished to keep. The remaining household items were placed in

MAYBE IT'S JUST ME by Beth Cunningham

Winter is a wonderful season for indulging in a traditional local pastime - talking about our ailments. For some people, it is not so much a time of chestnuts roasting on an open fire. More one of chilblains throbbing in a woolly sock.

Few of us avoid at least the odd sniffle. And we compare notes. But the folk who worry me are the ones for whom such conversations are not just a hobby or even a job. They're a vocation. They delight in others' health problems to the point where if your high-fibre diet fails you, they'll turn up on your doorstep with a box of suppositories and a willing smile. These are the ones you are bound to meet on the bus, and they always ask where you are going, just when you have an appointment with the gynecologist.

This puzzles me. My own complaints, when I get them, are unique, interesting and potentially life-threatening. Everybody else's - unless they are at death's door, or have been to Kenya to be mauled by a lion or attacked by a crocodile - are trivial, although I will make brief, polite enquiries.

As for the Snakes & Ladders of mental health, don't get me started - unless you have endless patience, a degree in psychology, and a comfortable couch. No, make that a padded cell.

I try not to be boring. I will start telling someone how I am - and it serves them right for asking - then, thanks to my short attention span, have a rapid out-of-body experience during which I shout down at myself to shut up, make an excuse and leave before I lose another friend.

Past 50, we reach a fork in the road with health. At some point, there is going to be more to talk about if you're that way inclined. But it's also a question of attitude. And I think that depends on how you were brought up.

In our family, if you could get your socks and blazer on and were not throwing up every five seconds you were sent to school, double maths or not. Illness was not encouraged. I wish that this parental zeal bore fruit at exam time.

Nana Williams, my maternal grandmother, took five sugars in her tea and lived until she was 101. She was hard pushed to recall what she had for lunch, but she could still sing the Welsh national anthem, which is handy when you come from Aberystwyth. She was loved for her sunny disposition. Living proof that laughter really is the best medicine.

I try to hang on to a sense of humour myself - even when I'm feeling a bit funny.

Beth Cunningham was brought up in Rawdon. She left Yorkshire to work for newspapers and magazines on Merseyside and in Wales, the Middle East and London, where she also wrote and performed stand-up comedy.

She now lives in Haworth, is a life member of the Bronte Society and writes short stories.

- 2 celery sticks (roughly chopped)
- 10-15 cherry tomatoes (5 normal tomatoes)
- 2 cloves of garlic (crushed)
- 1 pack of Quorn mince
- 3 tbsp olive oil
- 150ml/¼ pint veggie stock
- 1 x 400g chopped tomatoes
- 2 tbsp of sundried-tomato pesto
- Pinch of table salt
- Pasta of choice

Method:

1. Heat a large frying pan until hot and add half the oil. Cook the Quorn mince until for 4-5 mins. Remove from the heat and transfer to a plate.
2. For the 5 Veg sauce, add the rest of the oil, the onions, carrots, celery, cherry tomatoes, garlic and a good pinch of salt to the pan and cook until softened (about 5-6 mins). Add the stock, tinned tomatoes and bring to the boil. Keep stirring.
3. Remove from the heat, add the pesto, allow to cool slightly then blitz in a food processor until completely smooth.
4. Return the 5 veg sauce and mince to the pan (not on the heat) and combine.
5. Meanwhile cook yours (or your kids'!) pasta of choice as instructed on the packet. Once cooked, drain and toss in a little olive oil or vegan spread/butter to stop it sticking together.
6. Then serve and sit back, safe in the knowledge that there are no 'bits' in it.

Being born and bred in Yorkshire means me and my siblings had two choices at dinner: take it or leave it. An approach I've tried (with far less success) on my own children. Whilst me and my sisters would resign ourselves to eating whatever 'problematic' meal mum had served (corn-beef hash and steak and kidney pie were the most contested), my children cheerfully declare that they'll 'leave it' before skipping off to continue whatever havoc they were wreaking before my failed attempt at dinner.

Their list of 'problem' foods consists of anything a bit slimy in texture - onions, mushrooms, aubergines, courgettes, tomatoes, sweet potatoes - which is ironic considering how much they love making slime! My 8-year old still gags whenever she eats a tomato, and mushrooms will forever be 'bingusting' to my youngest no matter how small I chop them.

So, this recipe is for all the mums and dads who want to serve up a healthy, nutrient-packed meal without the inevitable showdown.

Yorkshire born and bred, Amy Firth lives in the Worth Valley with her partner, 3 kids, Murphy the dog and several rescue hens. A life-long advocate for fairer food and farming,

Amy is always in search of great veggie and vegan recipes which she shares on her Instagram page: @amy_firth78

IS YOUR CONSERVATORY TOO HOT IN SUMMER AND TOO COLD IN WINTER?

380 ultraRoof

Transform your conservatory into a cosy living space

Millions of homes across the UK enjoy the added luxury of a conservatory, whether it's for entertaining, extra living space or simply enjoying the views of the garden. But older conservatories can come with drawbacks - more often than not they are too cold in the winter and too warm in the summer, meaning they are underused. But now that's all changing. UltraRoof380 is helping transform conservatories into beautiful, elegant spaces, complete with vaulted ceilings and full-length glass panels to let the light flood in. The roof has been developed specifically for owners wanting to reinvent a conservatory and turn it into a room that feels more like an extension. While conservatories bring in plenty of natural daylight, the UltraRoof380 provides the best of both worlds, allowing challenge; we rely on fosterers and when dogs are coming from the pound we don't know the history so need pet and childfree options whilst we assess the situation. Our fosterers are so valuable; they allow dogs to come in, settle into a home environment to be assessed before we can match them to the perfect home. We hate saying no to any dog in need, exploring every option to get them safe, often involving numerous phone calls and juggling to find a suitable space. Once a dog arrives in our care, we take it to the vets for a health check. Very few are vaccinated or neutered so we undertake this asap.

Unsurprisingly some dogs have behaviour needs due to past experiences. It's sad and challenging to see dogs scared and unsure and sometimes this presents as aggression. Working with qualified behaviourists we assess the dog, offering support to the fosterer so they can help the dog feel safe and secure.

We home-check every person wanting to adopt or foster with us so we know the sort of home they can offer. Again this is all done by volunteers and approved by our committee.

In 2017 we rehomed 112 dogs and so far this year 74 have gone into forever homes; all in our spare time!

We are often asked "how does it all work?" below is how Aireworth Dogs in Need operates in a nutshell!

We are all volunteers – Aireworth Dogs In Need (ADIN) has no paid staff and everyone involved has other commitments; work, family etc and rescue activity is squeezed in amongst our "real lives"!

Daily we are asked for advice or to rehome peoples dogs; usually health, relationship, work or housing related reasons are presented. Often it's an emergency from people at crisis point wanting the dog moving that week or even that day. About 65% of dogs we rehome come to us from owners, the remainder being requests from the pound. Unclaimed dogs are on "put to sleep lists". The pounds contact rescues like ADIN to request we take the dog to prevent them being euthanised.

We're a foster-based rescue; we don't have kennels or a "centre" so without free fosters we can't help. This is our biggest

If you could change one thing in life what would it be...?

To worry less? To go out more? To be thinner? Happier? Feel more motivated? Feel less pain? Sleep better?

Hypnotherapy is often thought of with an old fashioned view of swinging watches and strange characters but in fact these days it is a long way from that. In fact, nowadays you can expect a much more modern approach which is based on neuroscience and the latest brain research. Therapy sessions focusing on what you want from life and then helping you to get there.

Using a combination of Psychotherapy and Hypnosis techniques, Hypnotherapy is no longer a process which is "done" to the client but is a collaborative process to bring about positive change to people's lives. The hypnotherapist will work in partnership with you to work against the problem that is causing you trouble.

The first part of a Solution Focused Hypnotherapy session uses Psychotherapy techniques which encourage you to express yourself positively, focusing on solutions rather than dwelling on problems. The idea of what you want in life, rather than what you don't want.

The beauty of hypnotherapy is that it works with the subconscious mind as well as the conscious mind and this can offer enormous benefits to those suffering with many conditions. The subconscious mind is often the driving force for many of the things that we choose to think and do and it can get stuck in patterns of behaviour which are not necessarily relevant or healthy in the modern world. The rational part of our brain knows what to do and therefore in hypnotherapy sessions it is not necessary or in fact beneficial to directly tell the brain what it should and shouldn't be doing. However, we do open it up to focusing on the more positive aspects in life and therefore reduce any anxiety which has fogged this rational thinking.

As we are working with the subconscious mind, change is often very subtle but after a session people often describe themselves as feeling uplifted and positive, and after a course of sessions, people are often doing things in life that they never imagined possible. Sharon Thompson

Sharon Thompson lives in Haworth with her husband and two young children. She swapped a career in the pharmaceutical industry to set up her business following 12 months of training in Solution Focused Hypnotherapy with the highly acclaimed Clifton Practice. Sharon now sees clients in Haworth, Ilkley and Leeds

Put a smile on their faces this Christmas

We need your help to sprinkle festive fairy dust over child victims of crime across the North of the UK this Christmas. Embrace CVOC (Child Victims of Crime) charity has launched 'Dear Santa 2018' – a seasonal fund-raising campaign to bring joy and happiness to children and young people who have suffered trauma as a result of crime. Local individuals and businesses in Worth & Aire valleys are grouping together to purchase gifts for children. Some are replacing their Secret Santa with Embrace's

Dear Santa initiative. A local Keighley business has generously donated their premises to receive the gifts and act as Santa's Elves, wrapping and sending the gifts out in time for Christmas. You can purchase a gift for a child victim of crime directly from Amazon Smile online. Simply select the wish-list for your area. Here you'll find a list of Dear Santa gifts together with details of the recipients, for example their age, the region they come from and the crime.

Buy an extra gift for a child victim of crime when you shop online. It's as easy as...

- Visit www.embracecvoc.org.uk/dear-santa
- Pick a Dear Santa wish-list based on where you live
- Choose a child's gift and buy direct from Amazon
- Leave details to request a Certificate of Appreciation
- Embrace CVOC Elves will wrap the gift
- Santa will deliver it in time for Christmas Day!

Yorkshire Loft Ladders, Quality You Can Trust

These days most homeowners suffer from a lack of storage space. So many precious items that need to be kept - but where to store it all? That's where Yorkshire Loft Ladders come in. The company, based locally, offers homeowners the opportunity to maximise their storage space with a loft ladder, 50 sq ft of boarding and a light all fully fitted in less than a day from just £277 + VAT. But it's not just the affordability of the package the company offers that makes Yorkshire Loft Ladders stand out as manager Mark Hodson explains: 'Our watchwords are Quality, Integrity and Value. Quality in the materials that we use for all our installations and the fact that all our loft packages are fitted by time served tradesman so our customers are assured of the best job. Integrity in that we will turn up at the time we say and make sure the house is spotless when we leave, and Value in that we offer our services at a price people can afford. Our business relies on referrals and we get a huge amount of our calls from people who have been referred to us by our existing customers - that simply wouldn't happen if we didn't adhere to our overriding principles.

At the end of the day the old adage that happy customers lead to more happy customers is true and we work hard to make that happen for every installation we carry out!

So, if you want to make use of your loft space, however big or small, call Warren on 0800 612 8359 and he'll be happy to pop round and give you a no obligation quote so you too can make use of your loft.

Here's a great way to make more storage space...
