October

October brings a wonderful mix of colour, creativity, community and delightfully, plenty of pumpkins to carve! In this issue, we explore the tradition behind those familiar glowing faces and invite you to have a go at creating your own.

We're also continuing our 20th anniversary celebrations, recognising the local businesses that have supported us over the past two decades, and the many ways we've been able to support them in return.

As always, you'll find our Directory of local services and tradespeople, together with community news, events and listings to help you stay connected with what's happening on your doorstep.

Thank you for reading and supporting local.

Have a great month.

From Canberra Close to Black Dyke Mills

Ian Foster and business partner Daren Girvan have known each other since childhood. Both grew up in Cross Roads and, after starting out together in the kitchen and bathroom trade, have spent the past 20 years building a successful local business at Queensbury Kitchens.

A local start

Ian and Daren grew up on Canberra Close, moving there when the estate was first built in 1974. They went through school together at Lees, Hartington and Oakbank before setting up Delux, a kitchen and bathroom fitting business, in 2003.

At the time, they were buying their kitchens from Queensbury Kitchens. Then, in 2006, an opportunity came along to take the business on themselves.

The original owner, David, approached Daren about the difficulties of running the business alone. Ian and Daren decided to buy in, and by October 2006 the business had become a limited company.

Learning what customers really need

The early years brought plenty of lessons. Kitchens were initially imported from suppliers in Belarus and Poland, but increasingly unreliable deliveries became a problem.

For a fitter, and particularly for a customer waiting for their new kitchen, a late delivery can bring everything to a standstill. So the business changed direction, moving to UK-manufactured products and putting reliability and service at the heart of what it does.

Kitchens for real homes

Today, Queensbury Kitchens offers everything from traditional timber and classic shaker styles to contemporary high-gloss designs, with soft-close doors and drawers as standard. Kitchens can be supplied flat-packed or fully assembled, while replacement doors, made to order in virtually any size, offer a cost-effective way to give an existing kitchen a completely new look.

Most ranges are available within around two weeks, with some options available in as little as 48 hours. The company also promises to beat any written kitchen quote.

And kitchens are now just part of the business. Queensbury Kitchens also supplies bedrooms, bathrooms, bathroom cladding and, more recently, garden decking.

Joel Foster; Ian Foster and Daren Girvan from Queensbury Kitchens.

A family business

The team is split between the office and the warehouse, with Joel Foster looking after warehouse and logistics. Their customers range from homeowners to local builders, joiners, architects, interior designers and small housing developers, but the approach remains the same: straightforward advice, personal service and products that do the job.

Twenty years on

The business now occupies a 6,000 sq ft warehouse and showroom at Black Dyke Mills in the centre of Queensbury, serving customers across Bradford, Halifax, Keighley and the surrounding areas.

Twenty years after taking over the business, Ian and Daren are still local lads, still working together and still helping people create better spaces in their homes.

Pork Steaks ~Normandy Style

By Martin Lingard

I learnt to cook this when I was fourteen on my French Foreign Exchange trip where I stayed with a family in Normandy.

The mum of the family I was staying with realised I was interested in cooking and taught me how to make this. It's a really good recipe to eat in the autumn.

I like to serve this with mashed potatoes and green beans.

Ingredients (Serves 4)

4 pork shoulder steaks

75g unsalted butter

1 large onion, roughly chopped

2 cloves of garlic, crushed

Small bunch of fresh thyme

4 dessert apples, peeled, cored and sliced

400ml dry cider

100ml double cream

Salt & Black pepper

Method

1. Preheat your oven to 140C.

2. Season your pork steaks well with salt and pepper. Heat half of your butter in a large frying pan on a medium heat and brown the steaks two at a time. Once done, transfer to a flameproof casserole pot and tuck in the thyme.

3. Tip the rest of your butter into the frying pan and add the onions and garlic, sauté gently until soft, then add your apples. Mix well and fry for a minute or two before adding the cider. Turn up the heat to bring everything to a simmer and season with salt and pepper. Now pour everything over the steaks in your casserole and put on the lid..

4. Place in the oven and cook for forty minutes. Once done, remove from the oven. Lift out the steaks and cover in foil to keep warm.

5. Now put your casserole pot on a high heat and boil vigorously, stirring continuously until you've reduced the liquid by roughly a third, then reduce the heat and stir in the cream.

6. Finally, plate up your steaks and spoon the cream, cider and apple sauce generously over them.

Who are we?

Our Keighley Denture Expert is
Matthew Varley
(Dip CDT RCS)

Matthew Varley is the partner and Managing Director of My Denture

Clinics, here he works as a Clinical Dental Technician (Dip CDT RCS).

Matt was born and raised in Pudsey, where he met his wife Angela Varley at school. They have 2 sons; Ray and Austin, he hopes one day they will follow him into the dental profession and share in his passion for dentistry.

Within his 23 years of experience, Matt has changed the lives and smiles of many, some of which are during one day implant immediate loading cases, and same day smiles, which he specialises in. The regular accolades received from clients and patients alike are testament to his passion for his work. Matt has a keen eye for detail and endeavours to provide the best care possible. Matthew completed his dental technology qualification at Leeds Dental Institute, he finished first in his class achieving distinctions throughout and was awarded overall best student and the acclaimed technical achievement award.

Matthew Varley started his journey as a Registered Dental Technician (RDT), however after 23 years experience working as a RDT in highly acclaimed laboratories, Matt made the decision in 2018 to set up his own business alongside fellow business partner Joseph O'Reilly.

Matt also returned to university to further his dental knowledge and become a Clinical Dental Technician, receiving the prestigious royal college of surgeons (Dip CDT RCS).

How can we help you?

Technology has moved on massively over the last few years as far as dentures are concerned. The fact is, you don't have to suffer badly designed or ill fitting dentures anymore.

However, replacing your teeth is more than trusting someone with your smile. Your appearance and the way people perceive you is also at stake.

Matt creates dentures which can offer the dual effect of restoring your smile and correcting the proportions of your face.

He can add volume to your lower face and upper lip region to achieve a more natural, youthful look. Everyone is different, so your dentures are influenced by your age, personality and gender to ensure they look perfectly natural. Matt will discuss your individual needs and the best choices available before providing you with the information you require to determine what is right for you.

The smallest alteration can make the biggest change and Matt is committed to providing the highest level of care, quality materials and the latest digital technology to achieve the best results for you.

Matt's ambition is also his craft, creating lifelike smiles through dentures and implant supported prosthesis.

TURNIPS, TRICKSTERS AND TERRORS

The pumpkin may have become the face of Halloween, but its roots are rather closer to home. In Ireland, people once carved faces into turnips and other root vegetables, placing a light inside to create a lantern for the darkness. One story associated with the tradition is that of Stingy Jack, a legendary trickster who managed to outwit the Devil. When Jack died, neither Heaven nor Hell would have him, and he was condemned to wander in darkness with only a burning coal inside a hollowed-out turnip to light his way.

And so, according to the folklore, came the Jack of the Lantern.

When the tradition travelled to North America, the pumpkin proved considerably easier to carve than a turnip. The great orange pumpkin gradually became the familiar Halloween lantern, and the custom eventually crossed the Atlantic again bringing us the glowing pumpkins that now appear on doorsteps across Britain.

A Yorkshire ghost story

And then there is the Gytrash, a ghostly creature of northern English folklore, familiar in the Brontës' time.

Charlotte Brontë carried it into Jane Eyre, where Jane remembers the Gytrash as a spirit haunting lonely roads in the form of a horse, mule or large dog. It seems rather appropriate, then, that Yorkshire has its own bit of supernatural folklore to add to the Halloween story. So, when you carve your pumpkin this year, why not look closer to home for inspiration? A Yorkshire Gytrash, a wild-eyed hound, a shadowy moorland creature or simply a suitably ghoulish face for your Jack o' Lantern.

Please send us a photograph of your creation. We'd particularly like to see the scary, curious or wonderfully wonky designs that appear on doorsteps across the community this Halloween.

BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE MUSEUM

This month marks 119 years since the publication of Charlotte Brontë's much-loved novel Jane Eyre. First published in October 1847 under the pseudonym Currer Bell, the novel was an immediate success and has gone on to become one of the best-known love stories in English literature.

Like much of Charlotte's work, Jane Eyre draws on experiences from her own life. Perhaps the most famous example is Lowood School, which was inspired by Charlotte's time at Cowan Bridge Clergy Daughters' School. Charlotte attended the school alongside her elder sisters, Maria and Elizabeth, and her younger sister, Emily. It is often suggested that Charlotte drew on her memories of her sister Maria when creating Helen Burns, Jane's kind and quietly courageous companion at Lowood.

Whether or not that connection can be proved, the parallels offer a fascinating glimpse into the real-life experiences that helped shape one of the world's most enduring novels. Tragically, an outbreak of tuberculosis at Cowan Bridge claimed the lives of Maria and Elizabeth. Both became seriously ill and later died at home in Haworth. Following their deaths, their father, Patrick Brontë, decided to remove Charlotte and Emily from the school and bring them back to the Parsonage to be educated by their Aunt Branwell.

We have some exciting events coming up this month!

In the last issue of the Worth Valley Magazine you may remember reading about the interesting connection between Branwell's Studio and Sally Wainwright's To Walk Invisible. This month, as part of our 10 year anniversary celebrations of Sally Wainwright's Brontë biopic To Walk Invisible, we're welcoming production designer Grant Montgomery to share his memories of transforming Main Street back to the 1840s, recreating Church Street on Penistone Hill and the Parsonage interiors on a soundstage in Manchester. Plus for a limited time you can learn even more about the epic Brontë biopic in our new exhibition, 10

Years of 'To Walk Invisible'. This special exhibition highlights the set design and costume design, exploring how the Brontës were brought to life on screen. There is also a selection of costumes by Tom Pye on display in the Museum. This exhibition will be in place until Thursday 31 December, so there's plenty of time for you to pop in and take a look!

STRENGTHEN YOUR GLUTES, SAVE YOUR KNEES

Why does the outside of my knee hurt?

The knee is the largest joint in the body. It moves like a hinge, allowing you to sit, stand, walk and run. Many injuries can occur around the knee, but for one in particular the cause can be something of a mystery.

Iliotibial Band Friction Syndrome (ITBFS), also known as Iliotibial Band Syndrome (ITBS), is a common knee condition. It usually presents with pain and tenderness on palpation over the lateral condyle of the femur (the bony prominence on the outside of the knee). It is considered a non-traumatic overuse injury and is often seen in runners and hill walkers. It accounts for one tenth of all running injuries, and the pain may worsen when running downhill.

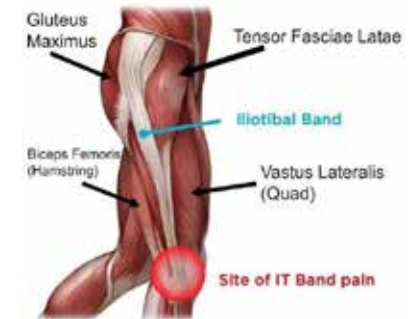

The iliotibial band is a thick band of connective tissue fibres that runs down the outside of the thigh. It starts above the hip joint and inserts just below the knee. Its main function is to stabilise the hip and knee while walking or running.

Factors such as tight hip flexor muscles, overpronation of the feet, constantly sitting with crossed legs, or suddenly increasing your running or walking volume can lead to knee pain from an irritated iliotibial band. However, what I tend to find on assessment in clinic is a lack of functional strength in a key muscle further up the kinetic chain.

The gluteus medius lies on the outside of the upper buttock. Its main action is to abduct the hip joint (move the leg sideways, away from the body), but it also assists in hip flexion, extension and rotation, both inwards and outwards. It plays a crucial role in stabilising the pelvis during single-leg weight bearing by preventing the opposite side of the pelvis from dropping. If this muscle is weak, tight or inhibited, unwanted inward rotation occurs around the weight-bearing hip joint, which affects the iliotibial band. Stability between the hip and knee is compromised, and the lower end of the band starts to rub over the outside of the knee, causing pain and swelling. ~ David Hanson

Iliotibial Band Syndrome

Exercises that strengthen the gluteus medius help to stabilise the pelvis and reduce the unwanted rotation of the femur that can lead to this painful condition.

1. Side-lying leg lift

Lie on your side with your legs straight and your body in a line. Keeping the top leg straight and your toes pointing forwards, slowly lift the leg a few inches, then lower it with control.

Try: 8–10 repetitions on each side.

2. Standing side leg lift

Hold the back of a sturdy chair or worktop. Stand tall and slowly move one straight leg out to the side. Keep your toes pointing forwards and, importantly, don't let your body lean sideways. Slowly return the leg. Try: 8–10 repetitions on each side.

A few words from the businesses we're privileged to support

As Worth Valley Publishing celebrates 20 years, we're especially grateful to the thousands of local businesses who have trusted us to help them connect with the community since 2006. From our small team, Joanne in the office, Clive leading distribution in the field, and Elizabeth, founder and editor ~ thank you for your continued support. We're proud to play a small part in the success of so many local businesses, and we're delighted to share a few of their kind words.

"The Worth Valley Magazine has been a huge help to us over the past 12 months as we've built and grown Incanto Homes. Starting a new local business can be challenging, but advertising through the magazine has helped us get our name out there, reach people within our local community and, most importantly, generate new enquiries and work. It's been great to see the support of local customers and businesses, and we're really grateful to the Worth Valley Magazine for helping us get Incanto Homes off the ground." Michael, Incanto Homes

"As a local business, we wanted to support a local magazine, and we certainly haven't regretted our decision to advertise with the Worth Valley & Aire Valley Magazine. In fact, we have been so impressed with the response and service that around 95% of our advertising is now done through their magazines. The team are always on hand whenever I need to make a change, have a question, or simply need some advice. They are friendly, helpful and an absolute pleasure to deal with. For us, supporting a local publication has proved to be a great decision, and we would have no hesitation in recommending the Worth Valley & Aire Valley Magazine to other local businesses looking to promote themselves within the community."

David, F & D Pest Control

"I have advertised my business through Worth & Aire Valley magazines for 16 years. Apart from word of mouth, this is where I gain most of my customers. This is my only form of advertising. All the magazines cover a vast area to my advantage. I will continue to advertise my business with them."

Adele, Adele's Ironing & Cleaning Services

"Snip & Wag started advertising in this great local magazine when Hannah started her dog grooming Salon in Denholme over a year ago. We have noticed a steady increase in dog grooms and we absolutely love the way the magazine looks reads and is so informative. Nothing is too much trouble and we love the way the magazine shares posts and supports local business. It's an honour to be in and we absolutely recommend anyone to try it."

The full page that they offer is also a great incentive to keep you in and the longer you remain we firmly believe it generates leads and business.

Thank you here is to the next 20 years!"

LOFT LADDERS

Yorkshire Loft Ladders, Quality You Can Trust

These days most homeowners suffer from a lack of storage space. So many precious items that need to be kept - but where to store it all?

That's where Yorkshire Loft Ladders come in.

The company, based locally, offers homeowners the opportunity to maximise their storage space with a loft ladder, 50 sq ft of boarding and a light all fully fitted in less than a day from just £277 +VAT. But it's not just the affordability of the package the company offers that makes Yorkshire Loft Ladders stand out as manager Mark Hodson explains: 'Our watchwords are Quality, Integrity and Value. Quality in the materials that we use for all our installations and the fact that all our loft packages are fitted by time served tradesman so our customers are assured of the best job. Integrity in that we will turn up at the time we say and make sure the house is spotless when we leave, and Value in that we offer our services at a price people can afford. Our business relies on referrals and we get a huge amount of our calls from people who have been referred to us by our existing customers - that simply wouldn't happen if we didn't adhere to our overriding principles.

At the end of the day the old adage that happy customers lead to more happy customers is true and we work hard to make that happen for every installation we carry out!

So, if you want to make use of your loft space, however big or small, call Warren on 0800 612 8359 and he'll be happy to pop round and give you a no obligation quote so you too can make use of your loft.
